Supervisory Personnel Keep Networks On Air

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Federation of Television and Radio Artists struck the major television and radio networks today, but supervisory personnel kept the networks on the air by taking over such programs as news shows.

In the first national strike in AFTRA's 30-year history, picket lines went up shortly after 5 a.m. in front of the Columbia Broadcasting System, the National Broadcasting Co., and the Mutual Broadcasting System, their affiliates in New York, Chicago and in Los Angeles, and at advertising agencies.

US Planes Hit Near Major Port

Second Day For Heavy Strikes In Wide Open Skies

SAIGON (AP) — American carrier planes hurled three raids near the major port of Haiphong Tuesday in the second day of heavy strikes against North Vietnam.

The closest target to the Communists' chief port was a supply point in the Red River delta 12 miles above the city. All-weather jets from the 7th Fleet also hit two other barge and supply points close by.

Air Force and Navy pilots flew 124 missions against North Vietnam. With Monday's strikes, it was the heaviest 48-hour pounding in almost a month.

South Vietnamese Premier Nguyen Cao Ky paid tribute to the Navy fliers today with a flight to the nuclear-powered carrier Enterprise, where he watched strikes take off and decorated three score American fliers. Some had just returned from North Vietnam and some were about to take off.

Flying from bases in Thailand and South Vietnam and from the carriers Enterprise, Hancock and Kitty Hawk, U.S. pilots raked supply lines from the Haiphong area south to the 17th Parallel Tuesday. The weather appeared to be breaking after months of fog and rain, but overcasts still prevented bomb damage assessment, and many raids were directed with radar. Although the U.S. military command does not reveal the number of planes in each mission, the air armada over North Vietnam was the largest in the war.

April Term Circuit Court Docket Set

The court docket for the April term of Circuit Court was released by William Lyles, circuit clerk, Tuesday. The most noticeable thing about the new docket was a reduction in the number of criminal cases pending.

The criminal docket contains 49 cases, ranging from a speed violation conviction appealed to the higher court to cases in which the State of Missouri is the complainant in a first degree murder case.

Of all the cases pending, only nine have been filed in Circuit Court here this year. The oldest case still on the docket was filed June 7, 1963, Missouri vs. Martha Haskins, et al., stealing over $50.

The docket also contained a list of jurors for the up-coming term. They are: First Ward—Jack Kniest, William B. Hurt, Mrs. Alma Milburn; Second Ward—Dewey Guinn, Mrs. Virginia Chancey; Green Ridge—Third Ward—Addison Taylor, Chester Eding; Fourth Ward—U. L. Howerton, Ray Jeldel.

Blackwater — Roy McCorkle; Bowling Green — McKinley Thomas; Cedar — Mrs. Earl Thomas; Dresden — Mrs. Melvin Turner; Flat Creek — Mrs. Georgia Chancey; Green Ridge — John Purchase; Heath Creek — J. W. Marlin; Houstonia — Mrs. Clyde Killian; Hughesville — Homer Cunningham; Prairie — Paul Reed; Lake Creek — John Sudduth; LaMonte — Glen Reynolds; Smithton — William Pate; and Washington — Max D. Elliott. He seeks nothing but the privi-

The dispute centers around 100 newsmen at network-owned stations in New York, Chicago and Los Angeles who are seeking a higher base salary and a larger return of commercial fees on sponsored programs on which they appear.

Two of the first big news shows to be affected by the strike were the NBC Today show from 7 a.m. till 9 a.m. and the CBS morning news with Joseph Benti from 7:05 a.m. till 7:30 a.m. In both cases, supervisory personnel took over the shows.

Hugh Downs, host of NBC's Today show, joined pickets in front of the West 49th Street entrance to the RCA Building in a heavy predawn rain.

"I came down to picket in a car NBC pays for," Downs quipped.

The news portions of the Today show were done by supervisory personnel while filmed portions were reruns of previous shows.

Some shows expected to be affected were General Hospital and some music variety shows done before live audiences such as Dean Martin, Danny Kaye, Red Skelton and Smothers Brothers.

While the strike by the 18,000-member AFTRA primarily centers around newsmen, actors, singers, dancers and announcers are also involved.

AFTRA has 700 members in the Chicago local, but only 350 to 400 are working at stations owned by ABC, NBC and CBS are striking.

An AFTRA spokesman in Chicago said the strike would halt production of commercials for broadcasting and blackout daytime panel shows, and live prime time shows.

Spokesmen for the networks said that most filmed and taped programs would go on as scheduled.

Supervisory personnel planned to take over news programs, including the networks' evening shows with Walter Cronkite, Chet Huntley and David Brinkley and Peter Jennings.

Plans were made to replace the soap operas with repeats of situation comedy series and other programs.

Programs taped after Nov. 18 may not be used as substitutes for live programs under an earlier agreement reached between AFTRA and the networks.

At Democrat Meeting

Buckley Sees Responsible Leadership In Government

"Responsible leadership, integrity, and competency are the watchwords of good government," said James T. Buckley at the First Ward Democratic meeting at Mark Twain School, Tuesday evening. Before an energetic group, the speaker endorsed and encouraged support for James A. (Salty) Schumaker, Democratic incumbent seeking re-election for the office of city councilman.

"Salty Schumaker has demonstrated by his record on the council floor, as well as in committee, that he is a man of proven ability who is not afraid to act independently in support of those measures which are for the benefit of all Sedalians," Buckley continued. "He has served as chairman of various committees, devoting many hours working on the Industrial Development committee in an effort to expand our economic growth and consequently diminish our rate of unemployment. He seeks nothing but the privi-

Humphrey In Germany For Top Talks

BONN, Germany (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey arrived in West Germany today for talks with West German officials and the top American diplomats stationed in Europe and Canada.

Humphrey flew to Wahn Airport from The Hague, where he talked with Dutch officials Tuesday.

His discussions in Bonn were expected to focus on relations between the United States and West Germany and particularly the West German government's lack of enthusiasm for the proposed treaty to check the spread of nuclear weapons.

From the airport, which serves both Bonn and Cologne, Humphrey drove to Cologne to visit a cathedral. Then he was to go to Bad Godesberg — outside Bonn — for the conference of U.S. ambassadors.

Later Humphrey was to meet with Willy Brandt, West Germany's vice chancellor and foreign minister.

The meetings today and Thursday will set the stage for a return visit to Germany April 5-6, when Humphrey will have talks with Chancellor Kurt Kiesinger.

Humphrey will be trying to smooth the way for the nuclear nonproliferation treaty. Negotiations in Geneva are now in recess for six weeks while the United States tries to line up its allies behind the proposed pact.

West Germany and other West European nations contend that the treaty, as it now is written, could discriminate against their development of nuclear power and could open the way to Communist spying on such development.

Martin Redesignated Reserve Board Head

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has redesignated William McChesney Martin Jr., as chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, the White House announced today.

The announcement ended lengthy speculation over whether Martin would be continued as chairman of the board. Martin's views at times have differed with those of the President, particularly on interest rates.

Press secretary George Christian said the new designation as chairman is for the remainder of Martin's present 14-year term as a member of the board, ending Jan. 31, 1970.

Big Manhunt On For A Kidnaper

CHICAGO (AP) — More than 100 police and 30 FBI agents are on one of the city's biggest manhunts in years for the kidnapper of an 8-year-old daughter of an unemployed migrant from Loebe, Ky.

Black-haired Carrie Stephens, one of four children of Daniel Stephens, 41, and his wife Alice, 30, disappeared Monday night with a man who said he needed help in finding his dog.

He appeared while Carrie and five playmates were in front of the Stephens' home in the up-town district, densely populated by migrants from rural sections of other states. He offered a dollar to any who could find his missing dog.

Three boys looked in one direction while Carrie and two girls went with the stranger in another. The girls told police the man finally grasped Carrie's arm and led her away.

Police artists, with the youngsters' help, made a sketch of the stranger and 7,500 copies were given to searchers. The composite was that of a portly man of about 40 years old, medium height, wearing horn-rim glasses, a three-quarter length tan coat, a red and white shirt and dark trousers.

Community Action Corp. Gets Grant

The Office of Economic Opportunity has approved a grant of $118,126 to the Mid-Missouri Community Action Corp., Sedalia, for a ten-month program including Head Start programs for 152 children.

Senators Stuart Symington, Edward V. Long and Representative William J. Randall of Missouri made the announcement.

The funds are for operation of the Sedalia administrative offices, neighborhood "referral" offices in Benton, Johnson, Morgan and Pettis counties, counseling and adult educational programs through the MU Extension Service and Head Start programs in Sedalia, Cole Camp and Lincoln.

States Move To Prevent Control Bid

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Twenty-six states went to court today with arguments that a federal law threatens to end the federal-state system and could lead to federal control of police departments.

The case raises a question as old as the United States: Where does federal authority end and states' rights begin?

Maryland and the other states — their arguments so voluminous that a grocery cart was used to move the file — are attacking 1966 amendments to the Fair Labor Standards Act. The amendments brought some employees of states and political subdivisions under coverage of federal wage and hour provisions for the first time.

A three-judge federal panel began today a hearing on the constitutionality of the amendments and on a request by the states for an injunction to prohibit the federal government from enforcing their provisions.

The federal government has filed a motion for dismissal.

Atty. Gen. Francis B. Burch of Maryland initiated the suit against the law, which sets minimum wages for employees of schools, hospitals, nursing homes and institutions for the mentally or physically handicapped — public and private.

Stage Set For Contest In Election

SAIGON (AP) — One of South Vietnam's leading civilian politicians, Phan Khac Suu, announced his presidential candidacy today, setting the stage for a civilian-military contest in the Sept. 1 election.

Suu said his vice-presidential running mate would be another leading civilian, Dr. Phan Quang Dan.

Premier Nguyen Cao Ky and Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu, leaders of South Vietnam's ruling military junta, both have presidential ambitions. The currently dominant military power bloc wants one of its members elected although under the new constitution he must take off his uniform to run.

Informants say an informal show of hands at a recent meeting of the Armed Forces Council indicated Thieu was the military's favorite.

Other civilian tickets are expected to be announced. Suu, 62, was made chief of state in October 1964 when the military attempted to create a facade of civilian rule. He resigned after eight months of military coups and other intra-governmental strife.

Judging from past performance, Suu could not be expected to follow the military line if elected. A military coup ousting him would wipe out a year's effort to advance South Vietnam toward democratic government, an effort the United States has strongly backed.

Prospect For Peace Talks More Gloomy

Collapse of Effort Brings Promise From LBJ, Rusk

WASHINGTON (AP) — Apparent collapse of another Vietnamese peace effort has brought fresh promises from President Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk that they will persist in trying to move the war to the conference table.

But Washington officials view the prospects for success as growing constantly more gloomy.

Orders CIA To Cut Off Subsidies

All Private-Type Groups Affected By LBJ Order

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson ordered the Central Intelligence Agency today to begin cutting off all subsidies to private educational, philanthropic and cultural organizations.

Johnson also announced he is setting up a special committee — to include private citizens — to study ways in which the government can channel financial aid to such organizations in an open manner.

The President acted after receiving a report from a three-man committee he appointed last month after a storm of controversy followed disclosure that the CIA was making secret subsidies to the National Students Association, certain labor unions and other groups.

The committee proposed, in a key finding, that "no federal agency shall provide any covert financial assistance or support, direct or indirect, to any of the nation's educational or private voluntary organizations."

Johnson said in a statement he accepts this policy.

The President also went along with another committee recommendation that where support has been given, "it will be terminated as quickly as possible without destroying valuable private organizations before they can seek new means of support."

The panel that studied the CIA subsidy setup told Johnson it believes subsidies could largely, and perhaps entirely, be ended by Dec. 31.

Johnson said: "I accept this committee's proposed statement of policy and am directing all agencies of the government to implement it fully."

Secretary of State Dean Rusk will serve as chairman of the new committee that will consider a recommendation "that the government should promptly develop and establish a public-private mechanism to provide public funds openly for overseas activities of organizations which are adjudged deserving, in the national interest, of public support."

Second Ward Meeting

Republicans Keep Hitting At Incumbent Democrats

Republicans resumed their assault on incumbent Democratic councilmen at the Second Ward campaign meeting at Washington school Tuesday night.

H. Leroy Luchs, chairman of the city committee, was the spokesman at this meeting saying, in part:

"I am emphasizing what is already a matter of public record and should be obvious to all. We tend to remember only good things that happen to us and forget the bad. Therefore I can only expect that the Democrat leadership knew this when they asked that Cabletelevision not be brought up again at the last City Council meeting. Bad memories of their behavior will be on the minds of the voters when they go to vote Tuesday, April 4. Remember I am only going to talk about those things that are public record."

Luchs referred to newspaper clippings: articles on City Council activities as reported in The Sedalia Democrat; Democrat campaign advertising and the latest City Audit for the period June 1, 1965 to May 31, 1966.

"The two clippings that I feel are so typical of the Democrat incumbents are the ones I want to conclude with tonight," Luchs commented. "The first is a Democrat advertisement on page four of the Sunday morning April 3, 1966 Sedalia Democrat. In that ad the Democrat candidates pledged quote, 'Bipartisan Commission to make a City Charter Study' unquote. Are we to assume that they meant to do this as pledged or was this so much wind at election time?"

"I want to make sure that those whose pictures were in the ad did not bring this up for consideration in a pre-caucus meeting, and not reported by the press," Luchs emphasized, and then asked Mayor Ralph Walker if any of the Democrat incumbents had even mentioned the subject?

The Weather

Fair to partly cloudy, windy and warmer tonight and Thursday. Lows tonight 55 to 60. Highs Thursday in 80s. Precipitation probability Thursday about 10 per cent.

The temperature Wednesday was 55 at 7 a.m., and 72 at noon. Low Tuesday night 50.

The temperature one year ago today was high 64; low 37; two years ago, high 55; low 35; three years ago, high 40; low 27.

Jet Planes Shatter US Supertanker

LAND'S END, Eng. (AP) — British jets fired rockets into the supertanker Torrey Canyon again today, setting her shattered hull ablaze and covering the area with a huge pall of smoke.

The wreckage had been bombed Tuesday.

A huge slick of oil that poured out of the wrecked ship was still moving. A Navy spokesman said some of it had reached the French coast.

As the fight continued at sea to destroy the tanker and the oil, thousands of troops and civilian volunteers battled pollution along the beaches of Cornwall.

All along the south coast of England local authorities set up emergency committees to deal with the oil, which threatens their lucrative summer vacation business.

Antisubmarine booms, neglected since World War II, were hastily erected at some ports and harbors to help keep out the floating oil.

As the afternoon wore on, wave after wave of bombers and fighters hit the tanker with high explosives and napalm bombs.

The objective is to blast open the oil bunkers remaining in the wreckage and then burn the oil before it can float in and add to the massive pollution wrecking England's southwest beaches and bringing death to birds and marine life in the area.

Royal Navy Buccaneer bombers scored 23 direct hits with 1,000 bombs on the broken ship Tuesday, sending a pillar of smoke and flame 8,000 feet above the wreckage. Another 18 of the 1,000-pounders were dropped around the vessel.

Next came Hawker Hunter fighter-bombers, showering tank loads of aviation fuel and potassium chlorate incendiaries onto the huge oil slick.

About two hours after the first strike the flames died down and the planes were called in again.

Widely Argued Issues

'Do-or-Die' Questions Face Catholic Educators

By GEORGE CORNELL
AP Religion Writer
ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Some do-or-die questions today were put before Roman Catholicism's huge educational system in this country.

Among the crucial, widely argued issues cited were:

"Why should the church be operating schools at all?"

"Does its goal of 'every Catholic child in a Catholic school' remain a possible and desirable one today?"

"Should we concentrate on one level of education or should we instead seek to promote education across the board on all levels?"

Dromedary May Be Expecting

BOSTON (AP) — It is four months now since a dromedary at Franklin Park Zoo was expected to have a baby, and zoo officials say they may have made a miscalculation.

Dr. Denis F. Hawkins, chief of obstetrics at University Hospital who was called in as a consultant Monday, examined Mrs. Dromedary with a stethoscope.

"There's something in there," he said. "No doubt about it. But I can't feel it moving and I can't hear it."

"Don't quote me as saying she's pregnant. Just say she has all the signs of pregnancy," Hawkins said.

Ernest E. Roney, zoo director, said zoo officials saw Mr. and Mrs. Dromedary mating 16 months ago and estimated on the basis of a normal gestation period, that a baby would be born last December.

He said they now suspect that the mating was not successful, but that a subsequent one was. He also noted that camels usually deliver in the summer, which is better for their young.

Mr. Dromedary, separated from his wife a week ago in anticipation of the happy event, is pacing an adjoining pen.

Mrs. Dromedary snapped at Hawkins when he approached her, but zoo officials say she spends most of her time "humming and swaying."

the 64th annual convention of the National Catholic Education Association by its president-general, Bishop Ernest J. Primeau, of Manchester, N.H.

"What Catholic education today needs more than anything else is a philosophy, a rationale for its own existence," he told the school officials and teachers, including thousands of nuns.

He said he felt sure most of those present "would agree emphatically that it is reasonable and even essential" for the church to sponsor educational institutions.

But he added: "Even so, in honesty to ourselves, to the church and to American society, we are, it seems to me, duty-bound to formulate the reasons for the existence of a Catholic school system in the United States at this particular moment in history."

The basic questions were brought out at a time when change, critical inquiries and new proposals are coursing through the church's system of 14,000 schools with more than six million pupils.

Amid its problems of rising costs to maintain quality, there have been suggestions that some segments of it, such as elementary parochial schools, be dropped or curtailed so as to concentrate resources at other levels.

"Finding answers to the present challenges," Bishop Primeau said, demands "some hard and original thinking."

This is "perhaps particularly difficult in a time of transition when so much that was formerly taken for granted seems suddenly uncertain," he said.

Regarding the traditional Catholic ideal of "every Catholic child in a Catholic school," Bishop Primeau said it involves complex questions both as to its "abstract desirability" and "the dollar-and-cents facts of life."

After a century of strenuous effort, he noted, it is still far from a reality — with only about half of Catholic grade-school children in church schools, and a far smaller proportion of high school and college students.

If the objective can't be achieved, he asked, "What should be done instead?"

As for the question of whether the church should seek to provide bottom-to-top education, or focus on a particular level, he cited studies indicating that church schools all the way make the fullest impact.

"If the implication of this fact seems to run head-on into seemingly insuperable problems in sustaining a massive Catholic educational system at all levels, I can only say that we should face the issue squarely and not seem to dodge it."

He expressed confidence that solutions to the problems will be found and that they "will not spell collapse or chaos for the Catholic educational system."

"Indeed, I believe that the Catholic schools that emerge from this present time of questioning will almost certainly be better and stronger institutions, serving their students and the church and the nation even more effectively than they have done up to the present time," the bishop said.

However, he said, the answers had to be found soon or the chance would "pass us by" and "blind determinism" would take over, bringing the "haphazard outcome of neglect."

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: The letter written by "Grandmother-In-Waiting" couldn't have come at a better time.

Like many other girls, I am pregnant and will soon sign papers to put my child up for adoption. I have been dreading this terrible ordeal for months, but now that I have read the grandmother's beautiful letter I know my child will be received by loving arms.

Until I read that letter I was heartsick and miserable. I was sure I had let down my parents, my friends and my child. It never occurred to me that my sorrow could bring happiness to others.

When the grandmother described the new baby's room—ready and waiting—and the joyous parents—to-be counting the days, and aunts and uncles by the dozens waiting by the phone to get the happy news, I shed tears of happiness.

What is ahead for me will be much easier to face now, Ann. I pray to God my baby will get the kind of welcome described by Grandmother-to-be, and in my heart of hearts I feel certain he will. — GRATEFUL YOUNG GIRL

Dear Young Girl: I received scores of letters from girls who share your problem. They all expressed deep appreciation to the adoptive grandmother who wrote. I hope this great lady sees your letter and knows how much good she has done. And now, here is another expression of gratitude.

Dear Ann Landers: So much is said about the unwed mother these days. I wonder if anyone realizes the heartache of the woman who must give up her first grandchild.

Can you imagine what it means to suffer in silence when friends and relatives bring out their baby pictures, repeat their joys of being a grandmother? I know, because I've been there. She must live with the knowledge that another woman, somewhere, is enjoying all the pleasures that might have belonged to her.

I pray with all my heart that my Granny substitute is like the wonderful woman who wrote the letter that appeared in your column. Please tell her so. — GRANDMOTHER IN-SILENCE

Dear Grandmother: You told her — and in a way I never could. Thank you, dear.

Dear Ann Landers: Please tell me what you think of people who hang notes on furniture asking guests not to set wet glasses on the tables and admonishing cigarette smokers to use ash trays.

WASHINGTON—The automobile industry was asked to give the green light to a new automobile stop light designed to cut down on rear end collisions. The request was made by Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz., left, in support of a flashing stop light invented by Dr. John Voevodsky, Tucson, Ariz., right. They are shown pointing to the light during a demonstration in Capital Plaza. The lamp, called "Cyberlite," is designed to speed up the reaction of the following driver by flashing when the brakes are applied. The quicker the stop, the faster the light blinks. (UPI)

In Latest Encyclical

Pope Gives Support To Birth Control Education

NEW YORK (AP) — Some Roman Catholic churchmen see no major shift in the church's position on birth control in the latest encyclical issued by Pope Paul VI.

But Dr. Alan F. Guttmacher, president of the Planned Parenthood Federation of America, said the Pope's remarks were "a very great step forward."

The aspects of the encyclical dealing with social and economic equality drew at least initial suspicion from the conservative business community in Italy.

The Pope, in the encyclical issued Tuesday, gave the support of the Roman Catholic Church to governmental birth control education to check the population explosion so long as this education does not violate "moral law."

The papal statement did not relax the church's long-standing ban on chemical or mechanical methods of birth control.

Vatican experts said the new approach toward family planning would likely end organized resistance by Catholics in some nations to birth control legislation and dissemination of information on the subject.

The 8,000-word encyclical also rejected the idea that private property and free commerce are absolute rights, saying that help for those who lack basic needs must come first. It also rejected unlimited capitalism as a "woeful system" that sees profit as the key to economic progress and suggested more taxes on the wealthy to help meet the cost of aid programs for the poor.

The Rev. James McHugh, director of the Family Life Bureau of the National Catholic Welfare Conference in Washington, said the encyclical's position on birth control was "basically a restatement" of the church's position as set forth in the Ecumenical Council constitution "On the Church in the Modern World."

Father McHugh said: "On the one hand, he is calling for a certain maturity of conscience on the part of married couples and for responsible parenthood based on the structure of the family, the needs of society and the moral law."

"On the other hand, governments must provide and protect the freedom within which responsible parents can exercise a true moral choice, and it is this problem that most concerns American bishops."

"The Pope asks only that the stronger governments refrain from seizing upon family planning as the only answer to poverty, and that they avoid generating societal pressures that might infringe on the freedom of married couples."

Dr. Guttmacher said the Pope "gave complete benediction, as far as I can determine, to countries to mount their own national programs in population control as long as they respect the right of the individual to make choice and to use the method which he finds within his own conscience satisfactory."

Dr. Frank W. Notestein, president of the Population Council of New York, said:

"The encyclical represents a considerable advance. It recognizes the effects of over-rapid population growth on economic development, it says that governments should be sensitive to this problem, and it stresses individual conscience and morality. These points are important in themselves."

Rabbi Edgar Magnin, of the Wilshire Boulevard Temple in Los Angeles, said:

"The encyclical does not criticize capitalism as such but means, I think, that capitalist countries with plenty should help countries that haven't got it provided they use it wisely, and there's no objection to that."

Milton Friedman, University of Chicago economist, commented:

"One of the basic principles of economics is specialization of function and division of labor. It is clear the Pope should stick to his special function, which is theology, not economics."

Hearnes Says Roos Wrong In Criticizing

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The governor of Missouri, Warren E. Hearnes, says St. Louis County Supervisor Lawrence Roos was wrong in criticizing a Congressional redistricting plan as a scheme of the Democrats to deprive Negroes and Republicans of representation.

Gov. Hearnes said Tuesday it was his understanding the proposed redistricting plan for the Second Congressional District was recommended by unanimous vote of the Missouri Senate Apportionment Committee. The governor added that there are Republicans on the committee.

Supervisor Roos, a Republican, attacked the plan recently. Gov. Hearnes said he had not had time to study the plan enough to make comment on its worth.

Fisherman Back Aboard Red Trawler

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — A tall, bushy-haired commercial fisherman from Vladivostok was back at sea aboard his Soviet shrimp trawler today after spending 43 hours in jail for violating U.S. coastal waters.

Leonid M. Kushenko, 29, was released from the Alaska state jail at Anchorage at noon Monday after a representative of the Soviet Embassy in Washington paid his $10,000 fine.

The embassy official, Third Secretary Yuri V. Chemokhud, said in an interview that the Soviet government "takes severe measures against those masters of our fishing fleet who violate U.S. territorial fishing rights."

Kushenko was flown to Kodiak by a Coast Guard plane and taken by the Coast Guard cutter Storist to his 178-foot trawler, the SRTM 8-457, 20 miles off shore.

The Soviet seaman is skipper of the trawler, which was seized by the Storist last Wednesday 5½ miles off Alaska's Shumagin Islands. The United States claims exclusive fishing rights to 12 miles off shore.

The Storist took the trawler in tow and arrived off Kodiak late Friday. Kushenko was flown to Anchorage Saturday and pleaded no contest. U.S. Dist. Judge James A. von der Heydt fined him $2,000 more than the $8,000 the government recommended, but did not sentence him to prison or order his vessel seized, as Gov. Walter J. Hickel and Alaska's senators had urged. Kushenko spent two days in jail because he was not able to pay his fine. The trawler was escorted to sea by the Storist Sunday.

Wednesday Club Meets

The Wednesday Club met at the home of Mrs. Nadine Wilson with nine members and four visitors, Mrs. Ruth Long, Mrs. Jim Lacey, Mrs. Laveria Goehman and Mrs. Mildred Thierfelder.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Mary Woolery. A poem was read by Nadine Wilson and then the hostess opened her gift. Prizes for the day went to Shirley Ackerman, Ruth Green, Mrs. Jim Lacey, Mildred Thierfelder and Mrs. John Closen.

The next meeting will be April 19 with Mary Woolery.

One Case Remains

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Only one case remains of the 1,912 damage suits filed after the conviction of 25 electrical manufacturers for anti-trust activities in Philadelphia in 1961, a U. S. District Judge said Tuesday.

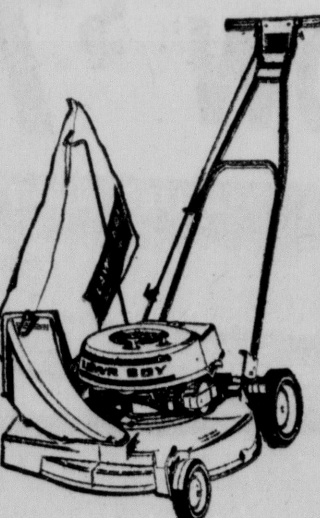

Chief Judge William Becker of the U. S. District Court of Kansas City said in St. Louis that the only case remaining is one in Tacoma, Wash. It may have been settled already, he added.

The 1,912 cases involved 25,623 claims against the defendants who were convicted of price fixing in violation of anti-trust laws.

All but a few of the cases were disposed of through settlements. Many involved multiple plaintiffs and multiple defendants.

Veteran Will Refuse To Fight

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — A 12-year Air Force veteran and former instructor at the Air Force Academy said Monday in a news conference that "the war in Vietnam is unjust and immoral, and if ordered to do so, I shall refuse to fight in the war."

Earlier in the day, attorneys for Capt. Dale E. Noyd, 33, filed a suit in U.S. District Court seeking a change in his orders which could lead to combat duty in Vietnam.

The suit, filed in Noyd's behalf by the American Civil Liberties Union, asks the court to order his superiors to accept his resignation or to assign him to duties which are consistent with his religious beliefs.

Named as defendants are Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara; Lt. Gen. Thomas S. Moorman, Air Academy superintendent; the director of Selective Service, and six others.

Noyd contends that prior to Dec. 8, 1966, he became convinced he was opposed to the Vietnam war and tried to resign his commission but was turned down.

He said he then filed for conscientious objector status which was denied Jan. 31.

The next day he was ordered to report April 1 to Cannon Air Force Base, N.M., to receive training in the F100 jet fighter. Noyd said this would be training for assignment to Southeast Asia and Vietnam.

Cold Remedies Do More Harm than Good

Spokesmen Criticize Regulation

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) — The Missouri Air Conservation Commission's regulation calling for limitation of sulphur dioxide emission was criticized Tuesday by spokesmen for a big electric cooperative and a coal mining company.

The regulation states that utility companies must not discharge smoke that contains more than 1.4 per cent sulphur dioxide.

Objections were voiced at a news conference at the Associated Electric Co-operative, a co-op serving the electric power grid that provides service to rural Missouri.

Neil Adams, general manager of the co-op, said:

"It's not that we don't want to comply with the regulation as it applies to St. Louis and Kansas City. We can't."

He said it would cost rural electric consumers in Missouri at least $7.5 million in 1970 for his company to purchase coal from any other than its present source. He said he believed the regulations should be the subject of a four-point crash study program by the Missouri Public Service Commission.

W. V. Hartman, vice president of the Peabody Coal Co., the largest strip-mining firm in the state, said the work done by the East-West Gateway Council in St. Louis revealed that a yield of 3.3 per cent of sulphur dioxide was acceptable. He said it was not technically possible to reduce further the content of coal mined in Missouri by any process at the mine.

It was generally agreed that studies being made of the problem of air pollution by sulphur dioxide cannot be completed by the time the law goes into effect about three years from now.

All the members play musical instruments as well as sing. For their four hour engagement, at the Elks, 9 till 1, they will put on a one hour show in addition to three hours of dancing.

Local Continues With Plans To Disaffiliate

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The suspended leader of Local 837 of the International Association of Machinists at the McDonnell Co. says plans for disaffiliation from the international got a boost Tuesday night.

Bruce (Red) McCarthy announced that some 2,000 members of the local attending a special meeting voted unanimously to proceed with plans to disaffiliate.

The next step, McCarthy said, is to circulate petitions among the 22,000 members of the local for approval of an election to withdraw. Under National Labor Relations Board rules, McCarthy said, one-third of the members must sign the petition in favor of the election.

Citizens Association Rolls Up Victories

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Candidates endorsed by the Citizens Association rolled up victories in 10 of 13 council races in Kansas City's municipal election Tuesday.

Mayor Ilus W. Davis headed the victors with an almost 2-to-1 lead over Rex Bone, independent candidate.

More than 70,000 votes of a registration of 192,643 were tabulated. Although larger than anticipated, the voting was considerably smaller than the 105,299 cast in 1963.

Mrs. Sarah Snow, an independent, won handily over Bill Ohlhausen, a Citizens candidate appointed to the council in December.

She will join Mrs. Harry Hagan, who won reelection, on the council. It will be the first time two women have served since the system was started in 1926.

The third independent candidate to win was another incumbent, Sal A. Capra.

Mayor Davis said he and the council majority viewed the vote as a solid indication of public endorsement and that the city was on the right path.

The four judges of the municipal court were retained in office in the first nonpartisan vote on the members of the bench. Voters only had to cast a yes or no vote on whether the judges should be retained.

Crime, Our National Disgrace

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson pictures Americans as living in a "climate of fear" generated by crime in the streets. U.S. crime statistics, he says, are "our national disgrace."

Johnson made the statements Tuesday night in calling for speedy enactment of his anti-crime legislation, terming it "fundamental to the safety of the individual, the security of the home and the enduring stability of our great society."

Addressing about 600 law enforcement and court officials, participants in the National Conference on Crime Control, Johnson said "white collar" crimes—petty theft, embezzlement, consumer fraud and anti-trust violations—"dwarf all crimes of violence" in purely economic terms.

"The grim statistics of our crime record is our national disgrace," he said. But more important than any figures on crime, he added, is "the climate of fear that crime creates."

Johnson aimed some of his remarks directly at the police officials, judges and investigators in his audience.

The conference seeks to spark implementation of the more than 200 recommendations made by the President's National Crime Commission in its report last month.

"Many of you are on the front lines in the fight against crime," Johnson said. "You know the drudgery and you know the danger of that fight, and the occasional small triumphs that really make it all very worthwhile."

The conferees, in one of a series of panel discussions, went into investigating organized crime—and agreed a principal difficulty is that police don't trust each other sufficiently to pass along vital information on organized crime.

Chinese Cautious About New World Communist Meet

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

The Soviet Communist party is cautiously probing possibilities for a new world Communist meeting whose purpose would be to examine all the ailments besetting the movement.

The proposal for a meeting comes from Neues Deutschland, the party paper in East Germany which, in a backhanded way, acknowledged an atmosphere of crisis.

"On the whole," it said, "the international Communist movement has made further progress. The lowest ebb as a result of the differences of opinion begun by the Mao group has been overcome. The struggle for cohesion and unity is spreading throughout the movement. The overwhelming majority of fraternal parties now believe that favorable prerequisites exist for a new discussion among Communist and workers parties."

Translated from Communist language, that means Moscow wants a world meeting to deal with the problem of China and Mao Tse-tung. The Kremlin has had about as much as it can take of Peking's accusations, insults and interference.

The China phenomenon has contributed much to communism's woes. It has caused splits and splinters in parties around the world. But there is more to communism's troubles than the Chinese.

One important factor is that in advanced countries, Communist leadership is growing old. For 550 years the Communists have plotted for power in those nations. Today they seem farther away from it than ever.

One reason, many Western Communists seem to feel, is in Moscow. The demand from Moscow under Stalin for total obedience to all Kremlin flips, flops and whims did much to damage parties abroad. Today there is a growing tendency among them toward independence of action.

Moscow has a word for that sort of thing: "Opportunism." It means deviating from the line for the sake of improving one's own fortunes.

How have the Communists been doing in advanced countries? Not well.

At first glance, the French Communists would appear to be making gains. They express elation with the recent legislative elections.

In terms of votes, the Communists gained a million over the 1962 French elections. The number of Communist deputies elected rose from 41 to 73. In the first years of President Charles de Gaulle's power, card-carrying Communists dropped by 30,000 but then began increasing again. Today the party claims 20,000 more members than it had before De Gaulle took over in 1958. But the claim of 425,000 members seems exaggerated. There is another side to the coin. In order to make these gains, the party had to sacrifice cherished tenets, make compromises with non-Communist parties of the left. To gain a look of respectability the party had to criticize Moscow for such things as jailing Soviet writers for expressing their views.

Gains the party made may prove to be temporary. When De Gaulle leaves the scene, the leftist alliance can fall apart, since all parties in it compete for the same votes.

Italy's party of 1,350,000 is regarded as maverick. It, too, seeks alliances, not only with the left, but with the center, including Catholics. It has become respectful of the Vatican's influence. Italian party leaders espouse the idea of "polycentrism," meaning that Moscow is not the only source of authority in the movement. Italy's party often balks at Soviet initiatives. It is as if the leaders feel their only hope for future power is in being less, rather than more Communist.

In the rest of Western Europe, noisy, are tiny and ineffectual. All are plagued by splinter movements generated by the Moscow-Peking feud.

Communists in West Germany, Austria, the Netherlands, Britain and Scandinavia are sliding downhill as a result of difficulties with tired dogma, tired old leaders and scanty finances. The Belgian party is hopelessly split.

In the United States, the Communist party pins its hopes on the appearance of widespread ferment over Vietnam and civil rights.

"Our party is the main force

COMPLETES COURSE — Charles Dean Allee, presently stationed at Gardner, Kansas, recently returned from Kessler AFB, Miss., where he completed the Electronic Warfare Training Course. in the (U.S.) leftist movement and the most influential party among the leftist groups and youth," wrote its leader, Gus Hall, in Pravda, the Communist party paper last year.

That points to Communist hopes and ambitions in the United States, but has little to do with reality in terms of Red strength. Communists in the United States remain a puny force, often scorned by Moscow itself. And, small as it is, the party is plagued by the same process of splintering which bogged Communists everywhere in the wake of the Soviet-Chinese rift.

New Actors Idolize Bad Mannerisms

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The president of the Screen Actors Guild sat down to lunch: three bites of a diet bar and a glass of skim milk.

"It is unfortunate but true," sighed Charlton Heston, "that if you are in the business of selling your face and figure on the movie screen, you must diet."

Heston is among the most disciplined of stars. He maintains a flat stomach in order to command fat salaries. He also conducts his personal and professional life in a most salutary way.

"What worries me," he said concernedly, "is that young actors have a reverence for some of the performers in our business who are the most erratic and unreliable. They idolize the ones who have been guilty of unprofessional behavior, and I fear that they will believe that is the way to behave."

Heston wore the attire of his latest costume epic; this time he is a Western gunslinger in "Will Penny." In buckskin or lein cloth he is a commanding presence. The casual visitor is able to understand how he was able to play the part in "The Ten Commandments" and "The Agony and The Ecstasy."

He is a man who is concerned about his profession, whether the issue is economics or professional behavior. On the latter subject, he told of the Guild's fining of a name actor $1,500 for his failure to perform a television script according to his contract.

The Guild president discussed other matters that concern actors.

One of these is the studio tour. Some actors have been fretful about the hordes of paying customers who are now pouring through studios. Should actors have more privacy at their work? Or should they be paid extra for being viewed like animals in a zoo? These matters are being discussed with producers.

"But the most important matter is wages," said Heston. "While I don't want to prejudice the feeling of our members, I feel that we should again retain the same minimums for movie work, as we did in the last contract."

"But I also feel we should fight for higher minimums in television when the contract comes due in late summer, and I believe this could be a strike issue. The producers claim they do not make enough money to earn a profit from the first run

Mao's Wife Seeks End To Violence

TOKYO (AP) — Bowing to the moderate policies of Premier Chou En-lai, Mao Tse-tung's militant wife has called for an end to violence in her husband's nationwide purge.

The New China News Agency said Chou sat alongside Mao's wife, Chiang Ching, told a congress of 10,000 young Red Guards in Peking Saturday that "the struggle must be conducted by reasoning, not by coercion or force."

Goaded by Chiang Ching and by purge chief Chen Po-ta, the Red Guards had humiliated, spat upon, derided and manhandled Mao's real and imagined opponents, including white-haired President Liu Shao-chi.

The violence softened after Chou called for more humane treatment to veteran Communists and less harassment of his ministers. But Mrs. Mao apparently held out against him for months, as evidenced by the fact that though she addressed two earlier mass meetings, no official reports of her speeches were distributed.

The congress Saturday appeared to have been called in an effort to bring the unruly Red Guards under greater control and persuade them to return to their studies.

Chiang Ching demanded that the struggle for control of the schools continue, saying: "The phenomenon of our schools being dominated by bourgeois intellectuals must be completely changed."

The congress made clear that Chou continues to be the most important figure in the day-to-day running of the country and of the purge, with Mao and Defense Minister Lin Biao apparently drawing up the strategy behind the scenes.

Crime Goes Under The Microscope

WASHINGTON (AP) — Crime goes under the microscope today of 500 law enforcement, court and other officials seeking to trace the anatomy of lawlessness that frightens some Americans off the street with violence and preys on others through organized syndicates.

The 500 were called here by President Johnson to help plan tactics for putting into operation what could be the greatest anti-crime drive the United States has mounted.

The broad outline of the problem and about 200 recommendations for coping with it are contained in a 352-page, $2-million report by the President's Crime Commission. The report took 18 months to produce.

The report says it would cost "several hundred million dollars" each of the next 10 years to wage a successful drive.

Ramsey Clark, whom President Johnson saw sworn in as attorney general March 10 to "be our commander in this war on two fronts against crime" is the two-day conference's keynote speaker.

Today's theme is "Planning for Change" the report says must come if today's police forces, courts and detention centers are to be modernized to meet new crime situations.

The President described two of these problems as the increasing fear among some Americans of the criminal and the increasing fear among others of "the men who seek to enforce" the law.

The crime report recommends a vast overhaul of police organization and techniques in handling crime, and better methods of handling problems that involve minority groups in racial and other disputes.

Conference panel sessions concern such problems as street robberies and attacks so frightening they have "impelled hundreds of thousands of Americans to move their homes or change their habits," burglary, larceny — stealing that does not involve either force or illegal entry — auto theft and other crimes.

But a whole category of crimes lumped together under the title "business crimes" also are emphasized.

Drop In Interest Rates To Become More Noticeable

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The drop in interest rates grows broader and, as the year wears on, will become noticeable in lower charges for small loans.

The latest activity is the final acceptance in the banking community of a 5½ per cent prime interest rate after a two-month tug of war.

The pressure for lower rates is coming from several directions: as the avowed policy of the Johnson administration, as the obvious policy of the Federal Reserve, as a dictate of the slowing business expansion.

For a while some analysts believed that the balance of payments problem would keep domestic interest rates from sinking. Higher rates in Europe, they said, would drain dollars abroad.

Now rates are falling also in several foreign nations, and the United States, Britain, Italy, West Germany and France are pledged to work for easier borrowing costs. This threat to the balance of payments is lessening.

The greatest resistance to lower rates came from some commercial bankers.

Ordinarily when a rate is reduced by a large bank, as it was Jan. 26 by the Chase Manhattan, other banks quickly fall into line. A consensus did not develop this time. Instead, a heated dispute arose.

The split in rates amounted to only ¼ per cent, the difference between 5¼ per cent that most banks held to until this week and 5½ per cent, the rate fixed by Chase for its most credit-worthy customers.

Small as this difference seemed to be it represented a basic dispute about the economy. Most banks felt the demand for loans dictated a 5¼ per cent or a 6 per cent interest charge. Chastizing of Chase became commonplace. Whereas in most disputes bankers assume an icy but restrained disdain for opponents, the scorn here was heated and unreserved.

The main charge was that demand for loans did not call for a lowering of rates, Chase's move was premature, bankers said. It was politics, some others said—an attempt to court favor with the Johnson administration.

Gradually, however, the arguments against lowering the rate began to unravel. Business conditions continued to slow and the Fed pursued its easier money policy. More and more banks fell to 5½ per cent.

Last week Morgan Guaranty Trust dropped to the Chase level followed quickly by the Bank of America, the nation's largest commercial bank. There was no question now: 5½ per cent would prevail.

It was now First National City Bank's move and all bankers knew it. First City is Chase's main New York rival. It alternates with Chase as the nation's second or third largest bank. And it was one of the sources of resistance to a lower rate.

After holding out for two months, First City did not rush to get in line. Good Friday offered a respite. And the weekend permitted two more days of inactivity.

On Monday morning First City finally dropped its rate and most of the remaining banks that had politely withheld their moves now fell into line.

In dropping the prime rate to 5½ per cent some bankers still insist that Chase's move was premature. In the narrowest sense perhaps it was. In a broader sense it was a stunning victory.

Charles Greene Celebrates 107th Birthday

Charles Greene, of Windsor, reached the age of 107 years on March 24. Welcome Wagon Newcomers Club honored the occasion with a birthday party at the Windsor Nursing Home, where he has made his home since 1961.

The German chocolate birthday cake, his favorite, was decorated with candles. He had no trouble blowing out the candles or opening his gifts. Mrs. George Middleton provided beautifully decorated cupcakes for all the nursing home patients and Mrs. Norman Powers, manager of the home, and assistants served coffee. Helping with the party were Mrs. George McNeese, Mrs. Edith Steele, Mrs. Howard E. Wohlford, Mrs. Ralph Harris and Mrs. William Kline.

This is the sixth consecutive year that the Newcomers Club has planned the birthday observance under the direction of Mrs. Sam Ferguson, Welcome Wagon hostess. When visiting the nursing home in 1962, she found that Mr. Greene had no known relatives and she decided to do something about making his birthdays happy. Mrs. Steele and Mrs. Kline have been present for the past five parties.

He was born in Cortland County, N. Y. in 1860 and went west with his brother. He helped in building railroads and worked as a cowboy until he reached

Eisenhower Deserves Recognition

NEW YORK (AP) — As a teen-age Shakespearean comic actor, Dwight D. Eisenhower won the accolade "best amateur humorous character seen on the Abilene stage in this generation."

The former president recalls the reviewer's plaudits in his forthcoming book, "At Ease: Stories I Tell To Friends," excerpts of which are contained in a Saturday Evening Post article out today.

Summoning the memories of his Kansas boyhood, Eisenhower also tells about his scraps with other lads, the man who taught him to play poker and a guilt feeling he harbors over his brother's accidental blinding.

His stage triumph came in the role of Gobbo in the Abilene High School senior class production of "The Merchant of Venice."

The article quotes the local newspaper critic as saying Eisenhower "won plenty of applause and deserved it. He was the best amateur humorous character seen on the Abilene stage in this generation and gave an impression that many professionals fail to reach."

Poker was taught the young Kansan by his childhood hero, Bob Davis, a hunter-fisherman and guide who was illiterate but "knew poker percentages cold."

Sticking strictly to the percentages, Eisenhower said, he became a "regular winner" but quit while in the Army "when I found officers around me losing

Old appliances have a way of biting the hand that operates them. We don't think they're really malicious... it's just that, after years of faithful service, they've had it.

Perhaps you have a washing machine that's been on the blink so many times it's blunked... a dryer that leaves the towels soaking wet or else scorches your underwear... a refrigerator that holds the block record for accumulating ice... a television set that makes Cary Grant look like the center for the St. Louis Hawks. Police Reports

Ten-year-old Linda Franken, a student at Horace Mann School, was reportedly bitten by a hamster or large mouse, Sedalia police were told at 9:00 a.m. Wednesday. The animal died a short time later. The girl was treated by a local physician and the animal was turned over to a veterinarian to be sent to state officials for rabies tests, police officers said.

An unidentified thief who apparently has keys to the John W. Waibel residence, 1815 South Sneed, reportedly made off with about $110 worth of goods in February and then capped that early Wednesday morning, according to police, by entering the house again and turning the radio on. Only this time nothing was reported stolen by the owner.

Waibel, according to a police report dated Wednesday, told police ten shirts, one ladies suit and an undetermined amount of canned goods were taken from his home sometime in February. He set the value at about $110.

Police are investigating.

Sadie Katzinger, 32nd and Stewart, reported to the police Tuesday that $160 worth of copper and brass had been taken from Katzinger Salvage, Main and Mill. Taken were 500 pounds of copper wire and 500 pounds of red brass. Sgt. Perry Franklin and Officer Clyde Roark investigated the report.

Vietnam Tuesday numbered close to 400 warplanes.

There was no announcement of any planes lost over the North, but in South Vietnam a Communist ground gunner shot down an American C47 Dragon gunship 20 miles southeast of Da Nang, killing seven crewmen.

Accompanying Premier Ky to the Enterprise was Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu and the U.S. commander in Vietnam, Gen. William C. Westmoreland.

The trip evidently was planned to emphasize the support of Ky and Westmoreland for the bombing of the North, which both have said they consider vital to lessen infiltration of men and supplies into the South.

A lull in the ground fighting continued, but U.S. troops were making 18 big sweeps throughout the country and reported significant finds in Operation Junction City, near the Cambodian border west of Saigon.

Troops of the 173rd Airborne Brigade uncovered two big base camp areas in the jungle of Communist War Zone C. The largest camp had 60 underground bunkers and the other hid an underground warehouse with a store of supplies which could not be sorted out immediately because of scattered fighting above ground.

In the skirmishes, two U.S. soldiers were killed and 15 wounded.

Although ground fighting was light, U.S. spokesmen reported a rash of terrorist acts and said that last week Viet Cong terrorists killed 56 Vietnamese civilians, mostly village officials and local government employees.

In the north coastal province of Quang Tin, the Viet Cong abducted 15 villagers, and government troops retaliated by taking even more hostages from a Communist-controlled village.

An official said the Viet Cong entered the village two days ago and took away 15 relatives of the local militia force. At daylight, the militia force went to a nearby village known to be controlled by the Viet Cong and rounded up 100 people. They freed the old men and women and the children but sent word to the Viet Cong the rest would be released when their own relatives were safe. Vietnamese headquarters in Saigon said it did not know the outcome.

U.S. B52 bombers from Guam struck twice in South Vietnam today, hitting suspected Communist troop concentrations in the central highlands and in the Mekong Delta.

The Air Force reported also that a B52 raid on March 23 "devastated the center" of the camp of the 275th Viet Cong Regiment in the Mekong Delta but it was not known whether the regiment had been caught at home.

This brought the total for the year to 9,746 and the total since the Chieu Hoi program started in 1963 to 57,970, but there was no information on how many of the latter remained on the government side.

Charles Robert Wheeler, Knob Noster, driving while intoxicated, forfeited a $110.50 bond.

tion he intended to make a new appeal to the North Vietnamese government for reconsideration of its position.

Thant said again Tuesday night in New York, "Once the bombing of North Vietnam is stopped there will be meaningful talks in a matter of a few weeks."

He said "in my view unconditional cessation of bombing implies that the bombing must not be linked with any reciprocity on the part of North Vietnam." He said he did not consider North Vietnam's demand for unconditional cessation of bombing as meaning a halt must "last two years, or 10 years — that is unrealistic."

Thant's latest plan called for a "general standstill truce," preliminary talks on reviving the 1954 Geneva Conference which originally divided Vietnam, and reconvening the Geneva Conference as a forum for actual peace-making.

The United States accepted it in a note to Thant March 18. The note was made public Tuesday along with the text of Thant's proposal.

Johnson said he hoped that Thant was correct in believing that North Vietnam had not rejected the plan categorically. But the President himself considered that Hanoi's response constituted an apparent turn down.

Rusk's news conference, by contrast with Thant's refusal to concede total collapse of his effort, stressed the U.S. contention that North Vietnam has once more slammed the door on a bid for settlement.

Rusk declared that North Vietnam has brushed aside appeals from many neutral countries, the Pope, Thant, and many others in addition to his rejection of President Johnson's direct appeal to him for these talks. But, Rusk said, "we are not calling the search for a peaceful settlement to an end."

"We shall continue that effort by public and private means," he declared.

Johnson stressed the same contention in his luncheon speech, saying, "I want everyone who can hear my voice or see my words to know that this nation will continue to persist."

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said the United States should demand action on its 1961 resolution asking the U.N. Security Council to consider the Vietnam issue.

"We should put the cards on the table and demand that it face up to its responsibilities," he said in an interview. "Thus far the United Nations has shown a conspicuous lack of consideration for a matter that could involve the peace of the world."

The firmness of the North Vietnamese determination to rebuff a peace appeal based on any proposal other than a permanent end to the U.S. bombing of North Vietnam has now been demonstrated by its reaction to three major peace efforts — those of Johnson, Thant and a joint attempt by Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin and British Prime Minister Harold Wilson when they met in London in mid-February.

Smoke Gets in Your Eyes

Not all of us ride airplanes to experience the discomfort about which Leavitt F. Morris, travel editor of Christian Science Monitor, wrote sometime ago:

"I have flown thousands upon thousands of miles in crowded airplanes but never have I been asked by a seat companion if I minded if he smoked. The second the 'no smoking' sign goes off the cabin of the airplane appears as though a thousand fireflies have been released as the flames of matches and lighters ignite cigarettes . . . cigars and pipes."

Remember when tobacco smoke was so obnoxious that the railroads had to establish "smoking compartments" for the men? A woman wouldn't dare invade such privacy. The rule segregating smokers was promptly called to the attention of violators by conductor, brakeman or porter.

Modern air conditioning on public conveyances is supposed to minimize air pollution caused by smokers but this is not always effective.

We have often wondered why cigarette smokers believed they have special privileges over cigar and pipe smokers because the latter make more of an odor—which is debatable unless the cigar is a dead one, or the pipe has a soggy heel.

Cigarette smoke is just as irritating as that from cigar or pipe in a room, dance hall or dining place crowded with people emitting eye-burning fumes.

After all the campaigns against cigarette smoking as a health menace it seems quite apparent today that millions who are hooked on the coffin-nail habit couldn't care less what happens to their physical welfare or that of anyone else nearby who has to re-inhale their smoke.

"Say, fellow, would you mind letting me have an extra cigarette until I can get up front to buy a pack. Parliament? Sure, it makes no difference to me, I just need a quick smoke."

So, he lights it up and blows the smoke in your face while you're taking a sip of sanka.

Doctors' Day Meditation

The California Medical Assn. Council, in adopting a position paper on smoking and health, has urged all physicians to abstain from smoking and to advise their patients and others to do the same.

The Council reaffirmed that cigarette smoking is harmful to a person's health and called for the CMA to take a more active role in the public educational program of the state's Inter-Agency Council on Smoking and Health.

The CMA is currently conducting a study of the personal smoking habits and attitudes of its 23,000 member physicians.

Selective Diet

According to the Orkin Exterminating Company, rats entered an Army sanitation laboratory in Texas recently and chewed up a stack of military field manuals—including one entitled, "Control of Rodents and Insects."

Cartel In Drugs

The price of two drugs, quinine and quinidine, used in treating malaria and heart disease will be drastically reduced in a few months, according to Senator Philip A. Hart (D., Mich.) who threatens the Dutch-German cartel drug producers with supplying these drugs from the United States stockpile.

Senator Hart made his threat at a hearing by his Anti-Trust Subcommittee. Even though our stockpile is down to four million ounces, the Senator said, selling a large amount of it at a reduced price to the public would not threaten American troops in Vietnam. The suggested use of the quinine-quinidine stockpile would probably decrease the price of 100 tablets, which is considered a month's supply, from $7.50 to $2.

The Justice Department has already started a probe to determine whether American anti-trust laws have been violated by the foreign cartel and is looking into the possibility of legal action. The racket in drugs is not limited to the two mentioned in Senator Hart's threat, but thousands more persons afflicted with heart irregularities could be helped if the price of quinidine tablets were reduced.

Unrealism In Vietnam Peace Proposals

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — There was a streak of realism in the proposal by U Thant, secretary-general of the United Nations, for restoring peace to Vietnam. The United States apparently told him so, but in a gentle way. In short, a truce can be more complicated than he seems to imagine.

Originally Thant, a mild Burmese Buddhist, proposed three steps to end the war: a halt to U.S. bombing of North Vietnam; scaled down fighting by all sides; negotiations among the parties involved, including the Viet Cong.

The United States position was this: It would not halt the bombing unless North Vietnam gave some indication it was willing to tone down its side of the war. The United States had had some bombing pauses with no response from Hanoi.

At the same time this country had expressed willingness to discuss or negotiate without prior condition.

But North Vietnam took, and still does, the position that the way to restore peace is for the "United States to stop its aggression." So Thant's original proposal came to nothing.

Then Tuesday he unveiled his new proposal although it had somehow been leaked and was known before he addressed his Tuesday news conference. He made his new suggestion in one-two-three order.

There were the three proposals: a general stand-still truce, preliminary talks, and an international conference to return Vietnam to peace.

The Johnson administration promptly announced it had been informed by Thant previously about his three new proposals and had answered him, saying the United States welcomed his suggestions and was consulting its allies.

But buried in the middle of the American answer was this paragraph: "The United States believes it would be desirable and contributory to serious negotiations if an effective cessation of hostilities, as the first element in the three-point proposal, could be promptly negotiated."

This seemed to tell him, without being harsh about it, that a truce is fine but in order to get a truce the two sides have to discuss it first. There are some obvious reasons behind such thinking.

If there is going to be a truce, the two sides have to agree on some rules for it, for otherwise how could a stop in the fighting be assured in such a wide-ranging jungle war as the one in Vietnam?

And if there was no real truce, how could the two sides proceed to Thant's second step, the preliminary talks — after the truce — and before the big international conference?

And just hours before Thant made his proposals public North Vietnam seemed flatly to have rejected them, although the Hanoi answer itself seemed all gummied up.

Hanoi said Thant was departing from reality in calling upon both sides to cease fire and hold unconditional negotiations while the United States was committing aggression against Vietnam.

Hanoi said the correct way to settle the Vietnam problem is for the United States to cease its aggression. But Thant's latest efforts have a background.

The United States asked him last December to take whatever steps he considered necessary to bring about talks for a ceasefire. He went home to Burma and early this month met in Rangoon with North Vietnamese representatives to discuss peace possibilities.

Apparently he got nowhere for when he returned to New York he was pessimistic, saying the war "is going to be prolonged and bloody." He said he saw no prospect for peace.

But he told Arthur J. Goldberg, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, about his new proposals and sent them to other interested governments March 14. The United States gave him its answer March 18.

South Vietnam accepted the proposals, too, perhaps with some ideas of its own. But, so this writer has heard, North Vietnam rejected them. Thant didn't say yes or no about that Tuesday.

Thant's idea of a truce without talks to arrange the truce has been called "amateurish," although not to his face.

of five and six hearts and will feel that South was quite conservative when he only bid five spades and was fully justified in going on to six.

You will wonder about East's double of six spades and West's diamond lead that gives East the ruff to beat the contract. Is West clairvoyant or do East and West have signals?

The answer is that East and West were using a standard convention that has been in use more than 30 years.

This convention is the Lightner slam double named after its inventor, Theodore A. Lightner of New York. The theory is that there are many times when you want your partner to make an unusual lead against an opponent's slam bid and few times when you expect to beat the slam on simple defense. Hence, the Lightner convention is that when your opponents have bid a slam that they obviously expect to make, a double calls for an unusual lead.

In this case the unusual lead is clearly a diamond. A club lead would also be unusual but East could have invited a club by bidding clubs at some stage. Therefore West knows that his partner can take the first diamond trick. He leads the diamond. East ruffs and lays down the ace of hearts.

This particular slam double was rather dangerous. East was sure of the first trick but he had to worry about his heart trick. North and South did not

THE DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

Arthritis Considered Not a Simple Disease

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—I have arthritis in my right hand. My doctor gave me gold shots but had to stop them because they made me ill. What should I do now?

A—Many drugs are used in the treatment of arthritis. This is not a simple disease, however, the best results often require the team approach of a large clinic or teaching hospital.

Q—I have rheumatoid arthritis in my hips and knees. I have been taking Tandearil and Compazine for several years. Is it harmful to take them so long?

A—Oxyphenbutazone (Tandearil) is widely used in the treatment of arthritis. Prochlorperazine (Compazine) is a tranquilizer. Both of these powerful drugs should be taken only under medical supervision. Anyone who takes either drug over a long period should have periodic blood counts.

Q—I have rheumatoid arthritis. When I was in the hospital my doctor gave me cortisone. Now that I'm home I'm taking prednisone. Is that the same thing?

A—Prednisone is a widely used cortisone derivative. When any drug of the cortisone group is taken for a chronic condition it is advisable to take it only one week in each month. If, however, a person has been taking it regularly he should discontinue it gradually.

Q—I have heard that a ny-one who is over 50 should take an ounce or two of whisky daily as an aid to circulation and to help prevent a heart attack. Is it true? Would wine have the same effect?

A—Although one or two ounces of hard liquor daily is not harmful, it is not necessary for health and, if persisted in over a period of years, may lead to increasing the dose and subsequent alcoholism. Insofar as the alcohol is taken in the evening to relax tension it might help to prevent a heart attack. The equivalent of two ounces of 90-proof whisky would be nine ounces of table wine (about 10 percent alcohol) or 4½ ounces of fortified wine (about 20 percent).

Q—I read that lecithin made from soybeans can lower the cholesterol level of the blood and dissolve the fat in the arteries. What do you think about this?

A—I think you can't believe quite everything you read. Although lecithin may lower the cholesterol level, it is nowhere near as effective for this purpose as large doses of niacin. Any claims that it will dissolve fat that has already been deposited in the arteries are unsubstantiated.

Needless Worry Over A Worrisome World Ahead

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — The world is going so well for many in these prosperous times that they are afraid they won't have anything left to worry about.

This is an idle fear. There is always something to be afraid of. In all his long history man has never run out of panic buttons to push.

If you are bored with your old fears, there are plenty of new ones to be had merely by looking around you and picking something else to dread.

Here, for example, is a handy guide that might help add zest to your fretting:

Are you tired of being a bachelor or bachelorette? You are suffering from monophobia, the fear of being alone. On the other hand, if you dread marriage, what you have is merinophobia, the fear of being tied up.

If you feel you're in a rut and hate your job, chances are you've got both taphephobia, fear of being buried alive, and ergasiophobia, the fear of work. And if the boss has been bawling you out for loafing, undoubtedly you also have onomatophobia, the fear of hearing certain words.

Since it is almost impossible to watch television very long without seeing a deodorant commercial, there probably isn't anybody over 10 years of age in America who isn't a victim of bromhidrophobia, the fear of body odors.

Do you find it impossible to cope with modern teen-agers? Yep, you've got it — pedophobia, the fear of children.

Many teen-agers themselves, of course, are afflicted by bibliophobia, the fear of books, and ideophobia, the fear of ideas. And nine out of ten of them are classical examples of basophobia, the fear of standing upright.

have many hearts between them. However, East wanted a profit and he decided that if either opponent was void of hearts they might have gone to a grand slam.

For Two Thousand Years

War: Perpetual Scourge of Vietnam

By DON OAKLEY

In a posthumously published article in the current Horizon magazine — entitled "Two Thousand Years of War in Vietnam"—historian Bernard Fall provides a valuable perspective on the long and bloody history of this ancient land — a history that promises to be no less long and bloody in the foreseeable future.

Professor Fall, one of the most distinguished commentators on Vietnamese affairs, was killed by a Viet Cong booby trap in February

Vietnam's geographic location has always made it a melting pot of cultures, chiefly Indian and Chinese, his article observes. "The history of the south has been shaped by the kind influence of Buddha; that of the north, where China has always prevailed, by the far sterner philosophies of Confucius and Lao-tse."

Vietnam has also been a battleground for foreign armies and foreign ideologies. It began at least as early as 111 B.C., when the Chinese overran what is now North Vietnam. Their occupation lasted for 1,050 years, until A.D. 939. During those 10 centuries, a Hinduized people in the south called the Chams were exterminated by Vietnamese invaders from the north.

After the ouster of the Chinese, the Vietnamese settled down to what Fall describes as "their favorite national pastime—bitter quarrels among themselves in general, and between northerners and southerners in particular."

By 1613, "the two Vietnams" had broken apart and were only reunified in 1802 after years of savage civil war. Then came the French.

The first troops landed at Da Nang in 1865, ostensibly to protect Catholic missionaries and converts, nearly 130,000 of whom had been murdered between 1827 and 1856. This persecution carries over in the present-day mistrust between Catholics and Buddhists. The French remained as a colonial power for nearly 100 years.

Today, says Fall, north and south have again diverged under the influence of China and Russia in the north and America in the South. Meanwhile, a "third Vietnam" lives in the battle-torn countryside of the south—the Viet Cong and its northern allies.

Fall recalls a prophetic observation made by a young Vietnamese author in 1931: "We are a people who are looking for a country and have not yet found it."

Thirty-six years later, he concludes, that search is still going on, more desperately than ever.

Schoendienst And Musial Hatch Plan For St. Louis

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — The old firm of Red Schoendienst and Stan Musial is hatching a plot to move the St. Louis Cardinals out of the second division with the help of a strong pitching staff and the hitting of Orlando Cepeda and Roger Maris.

"Pittsburgh and San Francisco should be the favorites," said Manager Schoendienst.

"We'll be in there and we definitely should move up."

"We were last in the league in scoring runs last season but having Cepeda for the whole year should give us a lift, Mike Shannon has a great year for us last season and should do better."

"Maris wants to play ball. Roger started out slowly because he has a history of injuries but he has begun to sting the ball."

Schoendienst, the manager, and Musial, the general manager, are a close-working combination just as they were in the years when they roomed together as Cardinal ball players. Stan is doing his best to give the Redhead all the tools he needs to do the big job.

Like many of the other teams in training camp, the Cards have been conducting a major experiment, shifting Shannon from right field to third base. Mike, who even agreed to catch in an emergency, willingly accepted the challenge. He had had a few problems, learning how to shift his feet to anticipate plays at third.

Although Shannon .238 still has to convince some skeptics, the experiments continue. The other third base candidate, Ed Spiezio (.301), is in a good mood and anxious to prove himself over a full year. He was chafing on the bench in San Francisco when the Cardinals got him in a deal last summer. After leading the league for a time he cooled off but still contributed heavily to the Card attack at first base.

Valek And Schmidt Are Called Back

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—Jim Valek and Harv Schmidt, a pair of former University of Illinois star athletes, are expected to answer the call of Alma mater Wednesday.

Valek and Schmidt will be at a press conference scheduled Wednesday (11:30 a. m. EST.) when an announcement will be made to fill the head football and basketball coaching posts.

Valek will succeed Pete Elliott as football coach and Schmidt will fill the basketball position held by Harry Combes.

Elliott, Combes and assistant basketball Coach Howie Braun recently resigned in the wake of the $21,000 slush fund scandal after the Big Ten ruled the three should be fired or Illinois face suspension from the conference.

Valek, 41, is a former Illinois grid captain who played end on the 1947 Rose Bowl championship team. Valek and Gene Vance, who officially becomes Illinois' athletic director April 1, coached at Lasalle-Peru (Ill.) High School in the mid-1950s.

Valek was football coach and Vance, a member of Illinois' famed Whiz Kids basketball team in the 1940s, was basketball coach.

Valek went to Illinois as an assistant under Ray Elliott in 1958 and served one year under Elliott when Pete moved to Illinois from California in 1960.

Valek then shifted to Army under Dale Hall in 1961 and was retained at West Point when Paul Dietzel took the head job in 1961. When Dietzel went to South Carolina, Valek went along as offensive backfield coach.

Schmidt, 31, was captain and most valuable player on the 1957 Illinois basketball team. He has been serving as assistant to head coach Bob King at New Mexico for the last three years.

Schmidt, a product of Kankakee, Ill., started his coaching career at Davenport Iowa West and compiled a two-year record of 29-15 before shifting to Moline (Ill.) High School where he posted a 15-8 mark in the 1963-1964 campaign.

to come back after a couple of poor seasons at bat, will team with Dal Maxvill (.244) as the second-short combination.

The outfield could be tops in the league if Maris (.233 with the Yanks) can find his old home run groove and stay healthy for an entire season. Curt Flood (.267) is rated by many the best center fielder in the game. Lou Brock (.285), a speed demon who stole 74 bases to dethrone Maury Wills, is a solid left fielder with a powerful bat.

Bob Tolan (.333 at Tulsa) is a highly regarded prospect. If Maris fails, Tolan and Alex Johnson (.355 at Tulsa) may share right. Johnson is the husky athlete who was the key man in the deal that sent Dick Groat and Bill White to Philadelphia a year ago.

Tim McCarver (.274), a workhorse catcher who bats left-handed, will get a chance to rest now and then since the Cards have acquired John Romano (.231 with the White Sox) to share the job.

Cardinal pitching was second in the league with a 3.11 earned run average. The only staff that allowed fewer runs was the Dodgers with Sandy Koufax.

Bob Gibson (21-12) is the big man and has been ever since he led the Cards to the world championship with that great 1964 World Series job. Ray Washburn (11-9) finally broke over the .500 mark for the first time since he hurt his right shoulder in 1963.

Al Jackson (13-15), the mighty little ex-Met, proved himself as one of the best lefties in the league with a 2.51 earned run mark. Larry Jaster (11-5) pitched five complete game shutouts against the Dodgers who never have scored a run on him.

If Schoendienst has to reach for a fifth starter he can take Steve Carlton (3-3), a young man with a strong arm, Nelson Briles (4-15), a starter and relief man, and Dick Hughes (2-1), who is considered ready after nine years in the minors.

Hal Woodeshick (2-1) led the bullpen with a Card record of 59 appearances. He has a capable helper in Joe Hoerner (5-1), who was in 57 games.

Red has been looking at Ron Willis (10-7 at Indianapolis), Jim Cosman (10-2 at Tulsa) and Wayne Granger (11-2 at Arkansas).

Missouri, Oklahoma Win Games

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Missouri and Oklahoma State won intercollegiate baseball games Tuesday but three other Big Eight Conference members came out on the short end.

The losers were Nebraska, Colorado and Oklahoma.

Missouri defeated Texas Christian 4-2 with right-hander Jerald Hurt pitching the first five scoreless innings. It was Missouri's first victory of the season. TCU won a doubleheader Monday.

Oklahoma State had to go 10 innings to defeat Houston 6-5.

The Cowboys rallied for two runs in the ninth to tie the score and won in the extra inning when Jim Hays doubled and Wayne Weatherly singled him home.

Ray Hooten held Nebraska to three hits as Rice defeated the Cornhuskers 4-2. Houston struck out nine and gave up only one earned run.

Iowa scored four runs in the first inning and went on to defeat Colorado 8-2. Both Colorado runs were scored in the 4th.

A home run in the 10th inning by Scott Reid gave Arizona State a 1-0 victory over Oklahoma. Arizona State's Gary Gentry allowed only two hits.

Rusty Disbro of Oklahoma gave up seven hits.

Boxing In Comeback At Garden

NEW YORK (AP) — Is boxing staging a comeback at Madison Square Garden?

It begins to look that way.

The Cassius Clay-Zora Folley heavyweight championship fight drew 13,780 spectators who paid a record $244,471 a week ago today.

On Friday Curtis Cokes, the world welterweight champion, and Gypsy Joe Harris meet in a nontitle fight and although the top price is only $8 the gate should exceed $20,000.

And now comes a 15-round, world middleweight championship between Emile Griffith and Nino Benvenuti of Italy April 17 and Managing Director Harry Markson is looking for better than $100,000 with a $20 top.

Said Benvenuti, the challenger, through a translator: "I'd like to make up for that defeat by Ki-Kim Soo in Korea last year. I feel I won that fight."

It was his only professional defeat and the world junior middleweight crown was at stake.

Said Griffith, the champion, in his Virgin Island accent: "I'm mad at Nino. He sent a message to me through a friend. You don't kid when my title is at stake."

Griffith has never seen the Italian fight.

Griffith will receive a guarantee of $80,000 or 45 per cent of the live gate and ancillaries. Benvenuti gets 15 per cent of the live gate and ancillaries.

The fight will be televised nationally in color on home screens by Madison Square Garden RKO General Sports Presentations, with New York and the immediate area blacked out.

Griffith has a record of 52 victories and seven losses, with 18 knockouts. He will be defending the middleweight championship for the third time. In both previous efforts he outpointed Joey Archer of the Bronx, N.Y.

This will be Benvenuti's first fight in the United States. He has won 69 out of 70 professional fights with 29 knockouts.

Ex-Kansas Guard Is Named Coach At MU

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — A former All-Big Eight guard at Kansas State was named Tuesday as assistant basketball coach at Missouri. He is Roy DeWitz, who succeeds Glenn Cafer, who resigned last week.

DeWitz was a second-round draft choice of the Detroit Pistons in his senior year at K-State, 1957-58; but he passed up the pros to enter coaching. He was an assistant at K-State two seasons and head basketball coach at Manhattan (Kansas) High School six years.

Clay's Draft Fight Back To Louisville

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — (AP) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay's fight to stay out of military service returned to Louisville today for a round in U. S. District Court.

A hearing was set to determine whether a three-judge board should be set up to hear the champion's contention that he was the victim of racial discrimination.

Clay filed suit here saying there was an imbalance of Negroes on the Louisville and other Kentucky draft boards.

The 6th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals at Cincinnati rejected Clay's bid Tuesday for a court order to keep him from being inducted into the Army in April.

A three-judge court turned down the champion's request because of today's hearing at Louisville.

Machen Is Out For Good This Time

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Heavyweight Eddie Machen hung up his gloves for good after losing a 12-round Tuesday night to young California champion Henry Clark in the same ring where Machen began his pro career in 1955.

"I've gone to the end of the line and this is a good time to get out," said the 34-year-old Machen who won high ranking among heavyweights but never got to the top.

After knocking out Raul Flores in the same Sacramento Memorial Auditorium on March 22, 1955, he put together 23 more straight wins, most of them knockouts, before losing to Zora Foley in San Francisco on April 9, 1958.

Ranked No. 4 in 1964, Machen met Floyd Patterson at Stockholm July 5 of that year in a make-or-break bout for both and lost the decision. It was billed as a qualification to determine the challenger of Cassius Clay.

In Tuesday night's fight, the aging Machen made a go of it for seven rounds. Then the 22-year-old Clark, who was defending the state title he won last January, took charge in the eighth and won going away.

Composure Problems For Palmer

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Golf is a serious business for Arnold Palmer, but he may have trouble maintaining his composure today in the pro-amateur warmup for the $125,000 Greater Greensboro Open Tournament.

Palmer was paired with comedian Bob Hope, Walker Cup player Jack Lewis of Wake Forest College and Bill Black, honorary chairman of the GGO, in today's pro-am tuneup.

Fifty-two pros, each paired with three amateurs, made up the field over the par 71 Sedgwick Country Club course, measuring about 7,000 yards from back tees.

The 72-hole, four-day GGO, richest to date this year and tops in Greensboro history, will be worth $25,000 to the winning pro. The tournament begins Thursday.

Julius Boros, Dan Sikes, Bob Goaly, Doug Sanders and Tom Nieporte, all winners this year; eight-time GGO champ Sam Snead, and Gary Player of South Africa are among the 144 men who will make up the field Thursday. All are entered in the pro-am, as well.

The last four holes on Saturday and Sunday will be televised nationally.

Gogolak Worries After An Injury

FT. DIX, N.J. (AP) — Pete Gogolak, place-kicking star of the New York Giants, shrugged off a thought more painful than his back injury as he lay stretched out in an Army hospital bed.

"I don't want to think about being washed up in football," he said. "My main concern is getting well and getting healthy."

Gogolak, 24, was injured two weeks ago in a fall down six steps in a barracks for recruits at this sprawling Army post. He was inducted in January.

"At this time I still have trouble walking, but the main thing is that it's very painful," the former Cornell star told an interviewer Tuesday.

Gogolak's injury was disclosed Tuesday by his father, Dr. John Gogolak, a psychiatrist on the staff of Mt. McGregor State Hospital in Wilton, N.Y.

"He's in the lowest level of his mental life," Dr. Gogolak said of his son.

Officials at Walston Army Hospital diagnosed the injury as a lumbar sacral sprain, located in the lower back. Gogolak has a long history of spinal trouble.

Col. Lawrence S. Albrecht, hospital administrator, said Gogolak had been examined on six occasions at the orthopedic clinic and a number of times at a field dispensary for complaints about back trouble before the accident.

"We do not feel that this particular fall has caused any exaggeration or aggravation of his back problem," Albrecht said. If all goes well, he added, Gogolak should be ready to be released in 7-10 days.

But Albrecht said Gogolak hadn't responded to treatment as rapidly as expected.

"He's not happy about being in the hospital and I'm not sure what his feelings are about being in the Army," the Colonel said.

Gogolak was drafted in January after the government relaxed physical requirements for Army duty. He failed a military physical examination last year because of a spinal defect.

Clad in a blue hospital gown, Gogolak struggled in apparent pain as he tried to sit up in his bed. He couldn't recall exactly how he managed to fall.

Kansas Track Team Ready For Events

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — The Kansas track team was to leave today for the south to take part in two relay carnivals on successive weekends.

The Kansans will be in the 40th Texas Relays at Austin on Friday and Saturday and train for a week at Lafayette, La., for the Southwestern Relays in Lafayette on April 8.

Bob Timmons, KU coach, said he plans to enter teams in all seven relays at Austin.

Jim Ryan, who holds the world's 880 record at 1:44.9, is expected to run in the sprint medley Friday.

Timmons said the distance medley will be run without Ryan.

Doug Camilli drove in three runs with a single and double and Jim King homered in Washington's victory over Baltimore. Paul Blair homered for the Orioles.

Jay Johnstone's bases-loaded single helped California whip Cleveland. The hit raised Johnstone's spring average to .486.

Shot Now Outlawed

Come Up With New Dunk Shot Defense

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The National Basketball Committee has come up with a defense for the dunk shot—a rule prohibiting its use in college or high school games.

The rule makers outlawed the dunk shot at the closing session of their meeting Tuesday and also strengthened a rule already on the books to prohibit stalling tactics.

Although the dunk shot is a favorite among fans, players and some coaches, one of the rule makers believes the long-range response will be favorable.

"This has been a dramatic activity," said Clifford Fagan, secretary of the national policy-making group for amateur basketball in the United States and Canada.

"There might be some objection to prohibiting the dunk shot at first, but when they think about it and understand, I think everyone will feel that the change is good for the game," Fagan said.

Fagan said dunking the ball meant holding the ball above the basket and either dropping it or stuffing it through the net. He said the penalty for dunking will be loss of possession.

Fagan said the rule against dunking had no reference to any player but the new rule is certain to affect the style of 7-foot-13 Lew Alcindor, who led UCLA to the NCAA national championship with his dunk shots.

UCLA Coach John Wooden said he was surprised and "a little disappointed" at the new rule.

"I am very much surprised, basically, because there has been no experimentation in this field," Wooden said. "Almost always the committee recommends a year or even two years of experimentation before a rule is changed."

Kentucky Coach Adolph Rupp, who doesn't allow his players to use the dunk shot, was pleased with the new rule.

"I think it's a good rule," Rupp said. "I knew it was coming because there's been too much reaction to this show-off stuff. I'm glad to see them do something about this thing. It doesn't belong in basketball."

Fagan said there had been a rule to prevent stalling and a lack of action for about 10 years but the new ruling strengthened it.

Under the old rule, the team behind had the responsibility of forcing the action. If an offensive team did not advance forward with the ball after 30 seconds, it was given a warning and if no action resulted after another 5 seconds, a technical foul was called.

Members of the Twin City Garden Club of California met on March 20 for their regular monthly meeting. The program, under the direction of Miss Catherine Riner, featured a Bird Quiz. True and false quiz sheets were given to the club members, which proved to be very informative.

Mrs. E. M. Bishop, Miss Riner, and Mrs. Bena Hines have placed a new bluebird trail on Highway 87, south of California, thus extending the garden club's bluebird trails from McGirk to Clarksburg and now south on 87 highway. The houses were made by pupils of the vocational training classes of the California High School.

Mrs. Perry Wilson was selected to be a delegate to the Governor's Conference, to be held in Kansas City on April 24-25. The conference will be co-sponsored by the Kansas City Park Board, the Jackson County Park Board and the State Inter-agency Council of Outdoor Recreation.

Acknowledgements were read for contributions made to the Missouri Botanical Garden Library Fund and the Scholarship Fund of the Federated Garden Clubs of Missouri. Plans were discussed for the 34th annual convention of the Federated Garden Clubs of Missouri to be held in Jefferson City on May 10-12.

NFO Members Still Man Picket Lines

WEST PLAINS, Mo. (AP) — Members of the National Farmers Organization continued to man picket lines at four West Plains dairies Tuesday. The farmers are seeking higher prices for their raw milk.

The picket lines were formed Sunday. No attempts have been made to halt movement of trucks to or from the dairies—Sealtest, Highland, Foremost and West Plains Cheese Co.

A meeting was held Tuesday night in West Plains by the Boot and Shoe Workers Union which has offered financial aid to the farmers. The farmers and labor leaders met to discuss ways the union might help in the milk withholding action.

NFO Dramatizes Demands With Cow

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Some 50 members of the National Farmers Organization brought a milk cow to St. Louis Tuesday to dramatize their demands for higher prices for raw milk.

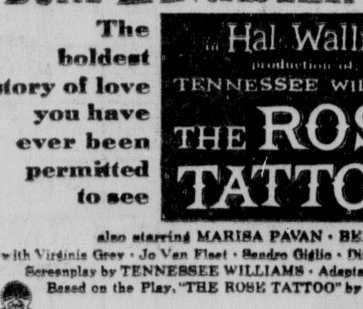

The farmers walked around the Sealtest Dairy's processing plant while the cow, apparently contented, watched from the back of a stock truck.

The NFO members, aided by wives and children, carried placards reading, "you take her (the cow)—she's too cheap for me," and "we've been milking her too long without pay, now you do it."

PLANS ANNOUNCED FOR FERTILIZER COMPLEX

PALMYRA, Mo. (AP)—A major fertilizer manufacturing complex will be built on the Mississippi River near Palmyra, Mo., the Missouri Farmers Association announced Tuesday.

Fred V. Heinkel, president of the MFA, said the association will buy 34 acres of ground with eastment access to river frontage from the Northeast Missouri Power Cooperative.

The Palmyra plant will replace a plant at the St. Louis suburb of Maryland Heights.

Heinkel said operating and location costs made it desirable to relocate.

"We want freight advantages of water transportation while maintaining proximity to our markets," Heinkel said.

An official said the new plant would employ 50-60 persons. No cost estimate was made by the MFA.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Will Rogers will be commissioned by the Navy Saturday, rounding out the 41-ship fleet of Polaris missile submarines started in the late 1950s.

Although numerically complete, the Polaris fleet faces a substantial program of remodeling. The Department of Defense plans to refit 31 of the subs to accommodate the Poseidon, a more up-to-date missile with a multiple warhead.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four top American Negro leaders who have offered to help Nigeria calm its current domestic strife are encountering no opposition from the State Department.

Press officer Robert J. McCloskey indicated Monday at a news conference that the department is giving cautious endorsement to the effort.

Telegrams offering assistance to the central government and the four regional governments in the politically troubled African nation were reportedly sent by Roy Wilkins, head of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People; Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference; A. Philip Randolph of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters; and Whitney Young Jr. of the National Urban League.

'Ironsides' Kick-Off On New Series

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — After nine years of watching Raymond Burr playing smooth-shrewd, unbeatable "Perry Mason," it was interesting Tuesday between the United States and Europe.

A 2,000-candlepower light has been approved by the Federal Aviation Agency to mark the center lines of airport runways for landing guidance. The new superbright marker lights will be most helpful in poor daytime visibility rather than at night, the FAA said.

CAPITAL QUOTE
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
"The panic button is being pushed here, and we in turn are being asked to act hurriedly and become the final instrument for foisting this new cartel on the country," U.S. Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas in support of court's 5-4 decision to hold up merger of Pennsylvania and New York Central railroads to assure protection of three smaller lines.

night to see him playing a testy, tough-talking heart-of-gold detective.

The vehicle in which he starred, a two-hour made-for-television feature called "Ironsides," serves as the kick-off for an NBC series of the same name next season.

Although NBC called it a "major motion picture," the show was a routine whodunit that would have comfortably occupied an hour of television time. It was padded to the bursting point with all sorts of irrelevant odds and ends to stretch it through a second hour.

Burr plays Robert Ironside, San Francisco chief of detectives. He was wounded and permanently paralyzed by a sniper's bullet in the first few minutes of the show. Once he was put in his wheel chair, the program was devoted to introducing his subordinates and solving the shooting.

Whirling like a dervish in his wheelchair, Burr plays Ironside as a sort of combination Lionel Barrymore and Nero Wolfe, with some colorful, rugged and un-Masonish flourishes like dropping his G's, cussing mildly and belting bourbon steadily.

The permanent casting has been carefully set so that the plots can move in a number of predictable directions. His assistants include a handsome young detective, a pretty policewoman who is also a rich socialite and an angry young drop-out who is hired to be our hero's "legs."

The story Tuesday night strained credibility often. Ironside cleverly deduced from the fact that six acorns were found in a sycamore grove that a pack rat had stolen the important evidence. Once they recovered the evidence, it was a cinch to hunt down the suspect. The story concluded with a surprise ending that was not much of a surprise to a detective story fan.

Steve Allen will return to his specialty — variety — in a summer season show occupying the spot now filled by CBS's Danny Kaye show. It is one of four hot weather variety shows planned by the network.

Burglars Rob Bank

FAIR PLAY, Mo. (AP) — Burglars took $2,620 in silver and broke into 42 safe deposit boxes at the Citizens State Bank of Fair Play, the highway patrol said Monday.

The patrol said the burglary occurred between noon Saturday and 8 a.m. Monday.

Fourth Quintuplet Dies In Hospital

VASTERAS, Sweden (AP) — Another of the quintuplets born to a Swedish woman March 21 died Monday night, leaving only a girl alive.

Doctors said the girl's chances of survival were somewhat better than the other babies' because her weight at birth, 28 ounces, was the heaviest of the five.

Mrs. Frederik Lars Jansson, 28, gave birth to four girls and a boy after being treated with a hormone fertility drug. The babies were three months premature. Three of the girls died on the first day after birth. The boy died Monday night.

Lisa Lures Herman The Hippo Home

Most people guess he swam nearly 15 miles in the ocean before turning up Monday at a health spa for horses.

But everyone knows why he went home. Lisa the elephant lured him.

Herman, all 1,500 pounds of him, had been missing since he wandered away Friday night from his beachfront cage in Huntington Beach, north of here. He had been appearing at a benefit carnival.

Police, his owner, Gene Holder, and friends couldn't find him. They theorized that Herman, who often was taken for an ocean swim, took an unauthorized dip.

Monday, Connie Hendricks let her bulldog, Challenger, out for an airing at her thoroughbred sea spa, a health resort for race horses.

"In just a minute, Challenger came rushing back in, so I investigated," she said. "I found Herman in the big swimming pool where we condition horses."

It was evident Herman had breakfasted on the horses' hay and then went into the pool, which is filled with sea water.

"I locked up the horses so they wouldn't get frightened," Mrs. Hendricks said, "then I called the police."

They found Herman's hoofprints leading from the ocean to Mrs. Hendricks' spa.

Owner Holder was relieved. "He can swim like a fish," he said, "but I was worried that a shark might attack him."

Holder first thought he would rope Herman. But Herman remained submerged in nine feet of water.

Then Holder led Lisa, an ele-

Houstonia Women Hold Silent Auction

The Houstonia Woman's Club of the M.F.W.C met March 22 with Mrs. Charles Wicker. Fourteen members and one guest, Rosemary Curry, were present.

The meeting opened with the pledge to the flag, club collect and club song. Mrs. C. F. Wicker gave the devotional. At the business meeting, it was announced that Linda Stockhurst had been chosen by Northwest High School as the sophomore to attend the annual pilgrimage in Jefferson City. This was announced by the district president.

Mrs. J. E. Hand gave an article from the GFWC Clubwoman on crime. A silent auction was held and the club took in $20.

The hostess, assisted by her daughters, Ciind and Angie, served refreshments.

phant Herman's age — four years — and his childhood sweetheart, to the edge of the pool.

Holder had bought them as babies — Herman from Africa, Lisa from India.

"I had only one heated stall, so I put them together," he said. "They've been inseparable ever since."

Holder thought Herman would come out of the water voluntarily as soon as he heard or saw Lisa.

"Speak, Lisa," Holder commanded. "C'mon Lisa, speak." The elephant glared at Holder and let out a trumpet.

Herman remained submerged. Three times Lisa was led into the chilly water. Three times she scrambled out.

Just as everyone was about to give up, Herman's head popped up. Lisa plunged into the pool. The pair frolicked in the pool — a hippo love-in.

Finally, out marched Lisa. Herman followed — right into their cozy van. Herman had come home.

Pacification Aid By U. S. Under Way

SAIGON (AP) — A major overhaul of the American effort to aid pacification of the Vietnamese countryside was under way today to further trim duplication and lack of coordination.

Some Vietnamese sources voiced concern over reported eagerness in Washington for quick results. The latest program to win over the peasantry to the government side is showing signs of progress after a series of defeats, and, the sources said, it could be damaged fatally by pressure for speed and rapid expansion.

The final form of the new American command structure in pacification is still being worked out in Washington, U.S. officials said. Sources said Robert W. Komer, a special assistant to President Johnson, will replace outgoing Deputy Ambassador William Porter as head of the civilian part of the pacification program. Komer has recently been concentrating on pacification problems.

Porter's nominal replacement in the embassy is Eugene Locke, a Texas oil man who was ambassador to Pakistan. Whether Locke will have a pacification role is not clear here. That probably will be announced after the current talks in Washington involving most of the new men in the top U.S. civilian slots in Saigon.

Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge is being replaced by Ellsworth Bunker.

Komer is considered here a take-charge man who is well acquainted with pacification problems. He also is regarded as a man who demands quick results and has an abrasive personality.

The last two traits could mean trouble in dealing with the Vietnamese, who are extremely sensitive about any suggestion of taking orders from Americans.

Catholic Priest, Former Nun Married

PEWaukee, Wis. (AP) — "It was a very inspiring service," said the Rev. LeRoy Andersen, of the brief, 15-minute, ceremony Saturday in which Edmund Kurth, 35, Pewaukee, a Roman Catholic priest, and Shirley Weis, 34, a former nun, were wed.

The Rev. Mr. Andersen, pastor of Galilee Lutheran Church here, said only a small number of persons attended the service. He confirmed that he officiated, but declined to say where or when the ceremony was held.

Kurth had said earlier he assumed the wedding would mean excommunication. He had been a Milwaukee Catholic high school teacher and a member of the Pallotine Fathers.

The bride, the former Sister Fredalene, had been working as a Chicago public school teacher.

Policeman, Man Hit, In Gun Fight Sunday

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — An exchange of gunfire wounded an off-duty policeman and another man in a private club's parking lot early Sunday.

James Jack Pruitt, 31, the policeman, was shot in the abdomen and both arms. His condition is fairly good.

Floyd Bledsoe, 32, is in critical condition with wounds in the head and abdomen.

Pruitt and two other off-duty policemen, Wayne Behrens and Charles Cordill, were in the club when Bledsoe became involved in a fight, police said. The bartender ejected Bledsoe.

Bledsoe told police he got a gun from his car and encouraged the three officers as they left the club. The shooting resulted.

An investigation is continuing.

Drought Stops Trains

CALCUTTA (AP) — Indian railroad officials have announced that the drought in Bihar State has caused cancellation of some trains. They said there isn't enough water for locomotives in the important Dhanbad coal mining area and the railroad will have to haul water to service the locomotives. Although some village wells still have water, the villagers have refused to allow the water to be used to keep the trains running.

Trawler In Heavy Seas

THORSHAVN, Faroe Islands (AP) — The Danish trawler Nolsøyar Pall with 22 men aboard was reported in danger of sinking in a raging North Atlantic storm today, and four fishermen who left the ship on a rubber raft were missing.

The Danish naval command said the trawler's cargo of salt shifted and the 312-ton vessel sent distress signals Sunday night after it began to list in heavy seas.

The naval command said the trawler's crew took the risky chance of opening the hatches in spite of the high seas and started shifting the salt cargo by hand in an attempt to put the ship on even keel.

If this operation proved successful, the captain, Ludvig Ryggstein, 38, planned to proceed to a Faroe port with an assisting West German vessel.

American planes searched for the missing crewmen. The men still on the trawler were unable to board two other rafts before gale winds blew them away.

Bound for Greenland, the trawler was reported 150 miles west of its home port of Thorshavn, capital of the Faroe Islands. The islands between Iceland and the Shetland Islands north of Britain belong to Denmark and have about 30,000 res-

High Percentage Of Error On State Returns

GENEVA (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey arrived at this center of world negotiations today with an argument he is expected to carry to the allied capitals of Europe: The urgent need for a treaty to curb the spread of nuclear weapons.

The vice president said during a brief airport ceremony at the first stop on his two-week European tour that the negotiations for a nonproliferation treaty are a "life-and-death issue."

The vice president is making the first extended swing through Western Europe by a top administration official since the late President John F. Kennedy's 1963 trip. He will discuss a variety of problems with foreign leaders and U.S. officials in six countries.

Humphrey's mission comes at a time of some friction in U.S.-European relations, partly due to U.S. efforts to seek agreement with the Soviet Union in such areas as nuclear nonproliferation.

U.S. officials said one of the chief aims of the vice president's trip is to assure European leaders the United States is not subordinating its European interests to a desire for East-West agreements.

The nuclear negotiations have been recessed for six weeks to give the United States more time to try to convince its allies—particularly West Germany—to accept the proposed treaty. West Germany and other industrial nations fear the treaty will have an adverse effect on their development of nuclear power for industrial purposes.

Humphrey, arriving in Switzerland after a seven-hour flight from Washington, told a small early morning gathering at the airport that the nuclear as well as the Kennedy round trade and tariff talks could show the way toward "peace and progress in the world."

Humphrey was scheduled to discuss the nonproliferation and trade negotiations today with U.S. Ambassadors William C. Foster, William Roth and Michael Blumenthal.

Humphrey in his travels to the Netherlands, West Germany, Italy, Britain, France and Belgium also has the mission of stressing the need for prompt action on the Kennedy round trade negotiations being conducted in Geneva.

Checkless Society On The Way In

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the not too distant future, you'll walk into a supermarket, buy the week's groceries and order a computer to pay the bill with out one penny or even a check changing hands.

That's the forecast of George W. Mitchell, a member of the Federal Reserve Board, in what he and the banking community term a "checkless society."

"It's coming very, very fast," Mitchell said today in an interview. "By the early 1970s, the system might be set up. When people find out it's easier and more convenient to do business this way they'll take to the change."

Mitchell, who is working on the checkless society idea for the board, estimated that Americans write at least 80 million checks each day, inundating bankers and the Federal Reserve Board with paper.

Processing these checks, he said, is expensive, time-consuming and geared to a completely obsolete technology.

Basically the checkless society would work in this way: Employers, instead of sending checks to a worker, would merely contact his bank and credit his accounts with weekly or monthly salaries.

The employee making a purchase would present his cash card which would be inserted into a special machine hooked to the bank's computer. The computer would transfer funds.

To pay monthly rent, mortgage, telephone or doctor bills, a housewife merely would notify the bank whom to pay and how much. The computer would do the rest.

There's even a suggestion for a "dial-a-computer" where a bank customer could pick up the phone and ask the computer how much was left in his account. Statements would be issued by the bank showing each

Fashions Help Singer Make Debut

NEW YORK (AP) — To the Kwela chant of the jungles and payment and the balance.

Coins still would be used for vending machines and dollar bills for some miscellaneous items. Mitchell said it probably would be impossible to eliminate all checks although the vast majority would disappear under the proposed system.

The checkless society, he said, would be much more efficient than present-day money operations, would save money and eliminate excessive paper shuffling.

"The cost savings here are fantastic," he added.

the wild beat of drums, barefoot misses with rings on their toes, bracelets on their ankles and feathers in their hair helped famous Negro singer Miriam Makeba make her debut Monday as a fashion designer.

Delighted buyers, used to conventional garment district showrooms, were a part of Greenwich Village for a show that was part theater, part fashion, all fun.

Roman designer Emilio Pucci and Frenchman Yves St. Laurent have been drumming up enthusiasm for the so-called African boom boom vogue for two years. But Miss Makeba with her heritage in the Dark Continent proved she could do better.

The manikins, some light, some dark, were sometimes elegant, sometimes savage, always sexy. The styles ranged from loin cloth bikinis to gold silk harem pants; to elaborately embroidered patio dresses; to wide shapeless robes.

The singer had adopted among other things the Hausa ceremonial dress, Nkrumah's diagonally cut robe, Congolese hip scarves and gold-printed Pura-Puras, West African robes with winged sleeves and sheath-like fronts.

Among the jewelry were Ubangi necklaces, teething

Major Tests Of Skill For Kennedy

By JACK BELL
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's announced intention to campaign for President Johnson in 1968 is beginning to shape up as a major test of political skill for the New Yorker.

Kennedy confirmed Monday what he has been saying for a long time — he will not challenge Johnson for the Democratic presidential nomination next year.

The senator made it known through an aide that he would file the necessary sworn disclaimer of presidential intentions in February White House spot with the President and his subsequent reiterated criticism of Johnson for not stopping the bombing of North Vietnam in the absence of any sign this would bring peace talks.

An embarrassment of publicity riches has put the senator in a position where anti-Johnson Democrats, primarily the party's liberals and youthful Vietnam protesters, have embraced him as their leader.

To hold this following intact as a nucleus for a probable bid for the 1972 presidential nomination, Kennedy cannot afford to compromise with Johnson or even soften his war position materially.

He must be for Johnson as state where his name might be entered in a presidential primary.

But the action points Kennedy toward the necessity of campaigning vigorously to elect an individual with whom he has personal and political differences not likely to be reconciled in the months that lie ahead.

Kennedy obviously wants to carve out a position within the party that will set him apart from the Johnson administration — but not too far apart.

Some of his friends think Kennedy may have gone a little too far in this direction with his February White House spot with the President and his subse-

"an outstanding president," as Kennedy himself has classified the chief executive, but against some of his most important policies.

This will present a king-size dilemma for the senator if he campaigns side by side with Johnson through New York or undertakes individual speeches for the 1968 ticket in other states.

Politicians agree, however, that Kennedy will have to dig in vigorously for Johnson. Otherwise, if the President were defeated the senator would be blamed for the loss and if Johnson won without his help Kennedy's political standing would slump.

Hennerich said Monday night he had not received the telegram.

The workers, most of them blind, say they are striking for better working conditions and better relations with management.

Communist Freighters Fired On U.S. Planes

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. planes were fired on twice last year by Communist freighters in North Vietnam's Haiphong harbor, says the Pentagon.

But the Defense Department won't disclose the nationality of the ships or what kind of fire they directed at the American planes.

In neither instance, the Pentagon said Monday, was a U.S. plane hit. In neither case did the planes return the fire.

The Pentagon also refused to say whether the pilots were under orders to refrain from attacking their attackers.

'Neutrino' Chase Gets Near Target

PARK CITY, Utah, (AP) — Scientists are getting ready to spring another million-dollar trap on one of the most elusive and mysterious particles in nature.

The quarry is the neutrino, which one physicist described as "the closest thing to nothing that we know of."

He hastens to add that this tiny bit of subatomic dust may someday unlock secrets in astrophysics, outer space, and the basic structure of matter.

And neutrinos may enable science someday to X-ray the center of the earth.

For the past three years, a research team from the University of Utah Physics Department has been building its unique snare deep in the heart of the fabled old Silver King Mine, once among the richest ore producers in Utah.

The neutrino trap is a chamber blasted out of solid rock some 2,000 feet beneath the ski slopes of Park City's Treasure Mountain.

It was financed by grants totaling nearly a million dollars from the National Science Foundation.

Dr. Jack W. Keuffel, head of the research project, said the complex gadgetry will be turned on within a few weeks, "after we iron out the bugs." Before midsummer he hopes to find a few neutrinos — or at least record evidence that they whizzed by on their journey through the earth.

Defining a neutrino is like cramming four years of college physics into a five-minute lecture. Keuffel says they have no mass and no electrical charge, yet they are capable of weakly interacting with other particles, hence the "next to nothing" claim. They are, says Keuffel, one of the "basic exhibits of elementary particles in the nuclear zoo, along with protons and electrons."

Because of their very nature, neutrinos pass right through the earth, traveling at the speed of light. Unfortunately, the vast majority cannot be detected. They're here and gone without leaving a trace, and continue on their endless journey in space.

But on rare occasions, deep in the earth's rock, neutrinos do interact with other particles to produce detectable muons, another group of lively, strange particles.

Keuffel says there are two main sources of high-energy neutrinos—outer space and the atmosphere. They come primarily from cosmic radiation. But those created in the atmosphere are generated when a cosmic ray proton strikes an oxygen or nitrogen atom.

The underground location, say the scientists, is necessary to filter out ordinary cosmic radiation.

"We are primarily interested," adds Keuffel, "in the particles that are able to make it through 2,000 feet of rock."

Physicists have been talking about neutrinos since the 1930s. Dr. Frederic Reines and Clyde Cowan actually detected the first low-energy neutrinos at Los Alamos, N.M., in the mid-1950s.

Since that time, Reines also has detected high-energy neutrinos deep in a mine in South Africa. And another group of British, Indian and Japanese scientists detected them in a gold mine in India.

Keuffel said about 30 "neutrino events" have been recorded in the past 10 years in two other detectors—in South Africa and India.

The University of Utah detector, however, will be the largest and for the first time may be able to pinpoint the source—either atmosphere or outer space.

From a practical standpoint, outside of earth X-rays no one has yet figured out what possible use the neutrino may have for mankind.

American Finds Home For Orphan

MALVERNE, N.Y. (AP) — Gary Barone has helped find an American home for a 5-year-old Korean orphan who caught the former U.S. Army sergeant's eye by socking him in the eye.

"He socked me right in the kisser, and showing that spunk, I liked him right away," says Barone.

Barone, 25, who now works for a finance company, met the orphan Lee Yung Soo, when he visited the Chung Duk Won orphanage of Pusan in 1965 while serving with the army.

"Two weeks after we landed in Korea in August 1965, I went to the orphanage," Barone recalled in an interview today.

"Another GI was holding Lee in his arms, I approached the boy and said, 'Isn't that a cute one.' He socked me in the eye."

"He had spunk. He was cute," Barone continued in explaining why he chose Lee as his favorite out of more than 100 orphans at the home. "He was a tough little guy, a man's man, a little man, I just fell in love with him."

Last April, Barone wrote to his mother, Mrs. Frank Barone, asking her to try to find a family to adopt Lee. Mrs. Barone telephoned the wife of the president of the Parents for Overseas Adoption, a group of Long Island parents who have adopted children.

The wife of the president said Mr. and Mrs. Harold Koch of Lindenhurst might be interested since they had adopted a Korean girl three years ago. Mrs. Barone got in touch with the Kochs and they were enthusiastic.

The boy is scheduled to join the Kochs on April 5, thanks to arrangements made by the Welcome House of Doylestown, Pa., founded by author Pearl Buck.

Mrs. Koch said she and her husband, an aircraft engineer, adopted the Korean girl, named Kristi, because they were alone some after their own three children, ranging in age from 20 to 23, went off to college. Kristi is 6 now.

"We wanted a little brother for our Kris," Mrs. Koch explained. "We couldn't get young ones in this country because they would think we were too old." Mrs. Koch declined to give her age.

The Kochs are going to name the boy Gary Lee, the first name for Barone and the middle name after the boy's Korean surname.

Barone will be on hand at Kennedy International Airport in New York when Lee arrives from Seoul to join his new family.

"I'll be there," said Barone. "I got special permission from the Army to wear my uniform for 24 hours. I don't think he'd

Missouri Community Asked For Donation

SALISBURY, England (AP)—A small Missouri community is one of nine American towns being asked to contribute 250,000 pounds ($700,000) to help pay for repairs to the cathedral in Salisbury, England.

The building contains timbers 700 years old which are ravaged by death watch beetle and dry or wet rot. A 10-year repair project would far outstrip the cathedral's income.

Lord Hindlip, chairman of the appeal committee, said he would approach American towns called Salisbury in Maryland, North Carolina, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Missouri, New York, New Hampshire, Pennsylvania and Vermont.

Announcement was also made that the Region VIII Explorer Delegate Conference would be held at Kansas University, June 14-17, and that two explorers from each district in the council would be eligible to attend.

Flights Just Ahead

Northwest Express Heads Straight To Soviet Center

By ANTHONY C. COLLINGS
MOSCOW (AP) — Direct New York-Moscow flights are in the offing, but for railroad buffs en route to the Soviet capital there's a Northwest Express.

It runs from Holland to Moscow. The 1,300-mile trip is approximately the same distance as New York-Omaha or San Diego-Salt Lake City.

The trip takes two days. Passengers moving through some of the most politically sensitive areas in the world sense the distances that historically have cut Russia off from the West.

Sharp contrasts in living standards begin at the start, when passengers can compare the single Russian car with those of other nations on the train.

A Russian conductor named Dmitri, wearing a brown fur cap, greeted an American couple boarding his car at the Dutch port named Hook of Holland.

Dmitri's friendly "Dobry vecher" — good evening — and his help with the luggage did not quite compensate for the unfavorable impression the Russian sleeping car gave.

The cramped first-class sleeper compartment hardly had room for two small suitcases.

In contrast to the airy modernity of the Dutch and West German cars, the Russian one was dimly lit, stuffy and decorated with dark red velvet curtains.

"This car will be replaced by a new one next year," Dmitri said.

Over a good meal in the Dutch dining car, the American couple had one of their last looks at Western prosperity as the train passed bright new apartment buildings in Rotterdam and Utrecht.

By 5 next morning the train had crossed West Germany to the Communist East German town of Marienborn.

Later that morning the train entered West Berlin, an enclave of modern buildings, busy streets and bright lights, then began crossing through the wall into East Berlin.

War-damaged East German buildings remained unrepaired. As the train moved on it passed new buildings but none as attractive as those in West Berlin.

A light snow began falling as the train picked up speed and headed through snow-filled woods for the one-hour trip to the Polish border.

Making their way through corridors jammed with standing-room-only passengers, the American couple arrived at the Polish dining car. It had been attached to the train in Berlin, when a number of Russian sleeping cars came on.

The couple sat for a long time at a table beside soiled curtains and studied a menu printed on unbound sheets of coarse paper.

At last a waiter took the order and brought out a good soup but also a lumpy pile of cabbage, greasy mashed potatoes and tough veal cutlet.

The Americans pushed the food aside and concentrated instead on the Polish beer.

At 6 p.m. passengers saw the lights of Warsaw, halfway point to Moscow, and shortly after midnight the train crossed into Russia.

At the border city of Brest the Americans noticed one immediate difference: Soviet women officials, smiling and round-faced, they inspected passports and checked against pest-bearing plants.

Passengers were told to get out and wait for two hours while the train's axles were extended 3½ inches to fit the Soviet tracks, made five feet wide in route to the Soviet capital there's a Northwest Express.

At 3 a.m. a woman in a dark jacket announced: "Comrades, the train to Moscow is ready."

Now composed entirely of Russian cars, the train began the final 600-mile, 13-hour leg of the trip.

By noon the train was heading toward Borodino, scene of a major battle in Napoleon's ill-fated 1812 invasion.

Over this same flat, cold land Hitler's 1941 invasion pushed on toward Moscow — but never penetrated the outskirts.

Snow sparkled in forests of birch trees and firs. Villages went by, gingerbread houses of green, red, blue or yellow. Power lines brought electricity, but many homes still had outhouses.

Corridor loudspeakers played a mixture of radio music: "Midnight in Moscow," "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes" and Beethoven's "Moonlight Sonata."

Soon the speakers switched to repeated re-enactments of the 1941 defense of Moscow. Martial music, machine-gun fire and melodramatic speeches filled the air.

The fields outside Moscow lay peacefully under snow. But the war sounds superimposed on this scene the ghosts of a battle 26 years past.

Ammunition Found

BERLIN (AP) — The East German news agency says there is a great deal of World War II ammunition, grenades and bombs lying around Berlin. It said that during the last six months of 1966, there were 182,000 rounds of ammunition, 53,919 grenades and 612 bombs found.

Educator Plans Campaign

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — A prominent Roman Catholic educator announced plans today for a nationwide campaign to prevent parochial schools from becoming what he termed "refuges for whites."

Msgr. James C. Donohue, director of the education department, U.S. Catholic Conference, said a survey showed that "our schools, like the public schools, reflect segregated housing patterns."

"We have been accused by some of promoting segregation," he said in a speech for opening session of the National Catholic Educational Association. An estimated 20,000 Catholic educators are attending the four-day convention.

Msgr. Donohue said the segregation charge is false, "but we must not let our schools become refuge for whites because of our inaction on the racial front."

He said he would ask every Catholic school superintendent "to set up an ad hoc diocesan-wide committee to consider what the role of the parochial school system might play in reducing racial isolation in the schools."

The committees, he explained, would be a prelude to a nationwide conference next year on racial isolation.

Dr. Glass Presents Report To Clinic

Dr. R. L. Gass, formerly of Sedalia, now with the U.S.N., Camp Pendleton, Calif., presented the results of his recent research to the annual clinical meeting of the Southwestern Surgical Congress in Miami Beach, Fla.

His study, "The Urinary Complications of Abdominal-Perine-al Resection" came from a review of the patients treated for cancer of the rectum at the Ellis Fischel State Cancer Hospital, Columbia. The results of the study point the way to a better handling of some of the common complications associated with the treatment of this common malignancy.

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Life for most North Koreans — except for top Communist party officials — is "hellish," says North Korean journalist Lee Soo-keun, 44, who defected Wednesday.

U.S. officers said Lee, vice president of North Korea's official Central News Agency, made a voluntary getaway at the truce village of Panmunjom by jumping into a sedan belonging to the U.N. Command, but North Korea charges he was kidnapped. The U.N. Command has denied the charge.

In talks with newsmen since his escape, Lee said North Koreans "are starving and are leading a miserable life." He said they lack food, clothing and shoes and other necessities.

LONDON (AP) — Britain's Trades Union Congress — TUC — wants to get rid of the nation's famed private secondary school system, claiming it is a breeding ground for "occupational and social privilege."

The General Council of the TUC, which represents more than eight million organized workers, said in a report Sunday that the private school is "designed to equip its recipients to take their places in an occupationally and socially privileged elite."

HONG KONG (AP) — An American couple from Newport Beach, Calif., plan another try at sailing a 40-foot sloop from Hong Kong to the United States after their first effort was cut short when they were detained for a week by Communist Chinese authorities.

Mrs. and Mrs. William A. Hanke and Garry Sharp of Sydney, Australia, were detained March 18 by the Communist Chinese fishermen when they accidentally sailed their yacht into the middle of a fleet of fishing junks in the dark.

Ride 'em Cameraman

STEEL-EYED, GRIM-FACED, he prepares for the perilous ride ahead. A western hero? No, Paul Newman is safe in the stagecoach seat. The one hanging on for dear life is the cameraman recording the action, as shown here during filming of the western movie, "Hombre." For a frontal view, above, the rubber-tired, well-sprung "coach" speeds along behind a one-ton truck while the cameras grind away. The scenes of the man on the galloping horse? He's filmed following a car with camera and crew clinging precariously to the top, lower left. Now for that overhead shot showing the plunging steeds, lower right. Ready? Giddyap, and roll 'em . . .

Thousands Disappointed With Tide

MONT ST. Michel, France (AP) — Hundreds of thousands of Frenchmen and foreigners flocked to the seashore today to watch what had been billed as "the tide of the century."

They stood, or sat, in a driving rain this morning as the sea — given a heavenly tug — rushed to the shore, flooding low marsh land and beaches.

The crowds themselves were pulled to the Atlantic and Channel coasts by promises that today's tide would be the highest since 1900.

In fact, the high water mark reached this morning had been attained 12 times before in this century.

Here at the 1,000-year-old Abbey of Mont St. Michel, the movement of the tides is said to be the most spectacular in France. Legend and local custom have it that the incoming water moves faster than a horse can gallop. One experienced observer estimated the speed of the morning tide today at only 6 m.p.h.

A spokesman at the Mont St. Michel Chamber of Commerce trying to explain the disappointment voiced by many of the tourists said:

"It's not spectacular. It never is. But it's pretty isn't it?"

The sky cleared and the sea sought its low mark. The gray-green water — whipped into whirls and eddies by a stiff breeze — moved much more swiftly on its outward passage. It was as if the world was a large bathtub and someone had pulled the plug.

The unusual tides occurred because the sun and a full moon were directly in line over the equator and exerting the greatest pull on the sea. This happens once every 18 years.

Camp Branch PTA Elects Officers

Mrs. Donald Brown was elected president of Camp Branch PTA at the meeting of that organization Monday evening, March 20. Others elected for the coming year were: Mrs. Omer Snapp, vice - president; Mrs. John Stohr, secretary; Mrs. George Hunter, treasurer and Mrs. Gail Vestal, reporter.

Mrs. George Hunter and Mrs. Omer Snapp were elected to serve as delegates to Pettis County Council of PTA for the coming year.

Mrs. George Hunter announced that a Council workshop would be held on April 26, at the First Baptist Church, Sixth and Lamine, at 9:15 a.m.

It was voted to have a wiener roast in April.

The program chairman, Mrs. Gail Vestal then introduced the guest speaker Chester Vermaas, who spoke on fishing conditions and showed a film entitled "Headwaters."

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Henry Beck, Mrs. Otis Fiedler and Mrs. Robert Geiser.

Boeing Wives Honored At Ten Wednesday

"Bridging the gap between us with friendship" was the theme of the tea given Wednesday afternoon, March 22, for the Boeing Wives by the Lillian Wasson Circle of the East Sedalia Baptist Church. A welcome was given the newcomers to Sedalia by the hostesses, Mrs. Vera Fox, Mrs. Eldon O'Neill and Mrs. Jerry Fox. As they arrived they were given missile name tags while the circle members wore name tags in the form of little churches.

Mrs. Wayne Rhoads as mistress-of-ceremonies kept the well planned program moving and interspersed it with humor.

Starting with a welcome, Mrs. Rhoads then asked that each person find someone they did not know and see how many things they had in common. This proved to be a lot of fun with pairs all around the room comparing notes. The pair who won the prizes had many things in common, things they liked and disliked were on a parallel and among the things they didn't like was washing dishes.

A skit was presented with the Rev. Larry Melton, minister of music and education, posing as a radio announcer interviewing the "Man on the Street" which he found to instead, all women. Asking just what they noted good and bad about Sedalia he discovered that the three women who had lived in Sedalia all their lives or for a long period of time couldn't tell him much about the town, but the fourth who had lived here only a short time was able to tell him many things she had found here. Taking part in the skit were Mrs. Ruth Franklin, Mrs. Vera Fox,

Presented Awards

Commissioner Hubert Wheeler of the State Department of Education announced the awarding of seven full-time Fellowships and 48 summer traineeships. The total grant from the U. S. Department of Health, Education title from the NFWC Clubwo-717.

The grants will be used for the following area residents who are considered by the State Department of Education to be "professional personnel interested in the education of handicapped children": Gloria June Grotjan, California, and Mrs. Ruth Barb, Warsaw.

Mrs. Marilyn Edwards, and Mrs. Pat McMullin.

A short talk was made by the Rev. Medford Speaker, pastor of the East Sedalia Baptist Church, who told the group he was also new in Sedalia having come here in January.

Mrs. Speaker and Mrs. Melton were both introduced.

Fourteen states in the entire group were represented with the greatest number, of course, from Missouri, 15, and the next the State of Washington with eight. Other states were California, New York, Louisiana, Arizona, Kansas, Iowa, Oregon, Mississippi, North Dakota, North Carolina, Wisconsin and Oklahoma. There were 27 Boeing Wives present.

From the tea table which was covered with a lace cloth, was served punch, coffee, decorated cookies and in each mint cup was a red paper missile making a very attractive table. Serving were Mrs. Hugh Neill, Mrs. Medford Speaker and Mrs. Larry Melton.

On a table at the other end of the room was a miniature missile and church with a little red bridge joining the two, carrying out the theme of the event.

Knob Noster Plans New School Addition

The school mass meeting at the Knob Noster School, was attended by approximately 20 persons on March 20. The meeting was opened by Superintendent James E. Jageman. Jack Young was elected chairman and Glenn Frisbee was elected secretary. The budget and tax levy for 1967-68 were discussed. The levy to be voted on at the April 4 election will be the same as this year, with a total of $2.

Tentative building plans were discussed. These plans include a 10 or 11 room, two story addition on the south wing of the elementary building, and a kitchen, cafeteria, art room and office space for the Junior High School. Jack Young and Charles Hen-person were nominated as candidates for re-election to the Board of Education. Young declined the nomination, stating that he believed 12 years was long enough for him to serve, and he nominated Dale Evert for the position.

The school election will be held in the Junior High Gym on April 4.
